How To Keep Our Liberty

Leadership Found In All Fields To Save Liberty

By RAYMOND MOLEY
Ninth of 12 Articles

I have reached the conclusion, after a great deal of study and observation of our national scene during the past three or four years, that there has never been a moment, within the orbit of my own experience, when the thinking of the vast numbers of citizens whom I have described as those who share the middle interests has been so out of line with and critical of the prevailing philosophy and competence of the two major parties. A great number of these people want to do something about what they know is happening to their savings, their hard-earned tax money, and their economic and political liberty.

Some of these people are already starting to do something at the local and state level, but they need more advice, guidance, and leadership. Let us consider where that leadership can be found.

Let us first consider people engaged in business, in all ranges of income and influence. A large part of business is devoted to selling goods and services. And yet, one of the most remarkable aspects of the current American political situation is the political impotence of those who have the greatest capacity to sell goods and services. From the clerk in a country store to the heads of the great advertising agencies of the nation, millions of Americans are selling their goods because they can make people believe in them. They take billions of dollars from the public in exchange for their products.

This sales power should be applied to effective political action. These people should learn the art of selling sound political principles as well as goods.

Automobile Field

Automobile dealers and salesmen who sell millions of units a year and service other millions are important in the life of their communities and of outlying regions. In several states in 1950 the influence of automobile dealers was important. In Utah, many of them organized among themselves in support of the Republican Senatorial candidate, Wallace Bennett, who incidentally was himself an automobile dealer.

Potentially important also are the farm-implement dealers who represent nationally known companies. There are also dealers in the oil products of many companies.

Consider also the immense potential influence of insurance agents. Their business brings them into every household, and the interests of their companies and of themselves are clearly in line with sound, economic, and free government.

A large number of these salesmen operate as free agents, businessmen in their own right, although they represent and sell the products of nationwide companies. Surely those companies should place no restrictions upon the political activities of these agents. For the companies' vital interests as well as those of the country

S. Korea Bans U. S. Broadcasts

Voice Of America Called Too Insulting

PUSAN, Korea (AP) — The South Korean government has banned Voice of America broadcasts over the 10-station government network, accusing it of "bitterly anti-government' and 'obviously insulting" remarks.

The Voice has included in its three daily broadcasts editorial excerpts from many U. S. and other foreign newspapers attacking President Syngman Rhee and scoring recent political developments here.

The U. S. State Department broadcasting agency has been using the South Korean government network for two years as a courtesy and not on a contract, said Dr. Clarence Ryee, director of the government's office of public information.

'However much we may question the taste and judgment of the persons responsible for such broadcasts," Ryee told newsmen, "we do not dispute the airing of such opinions under other auspices.

"But in this case the auspices were the ROK (Republic of Korea) government radio itself—used to carry bitterly anti-government criticism, obviously insulting.

"I am aware that this can still be done by the Voice of America from abroad and brought into Korea, but I am determined that the Korean government station will not be used to tear down its own sovereign state.'

He said that for the government to continue carrying foreign criticism on its own radio would be "Like lending a man a pistol to shoot you."

Ryee said it pained him "for any agency of the great United States government, our gallant and sincere friend in time of adversity, to be a party to smearing a sovereign ally."

Rhee and the assembly are at odds over the manner of selecting a president. Eleven assemblymen were arrested under martial law for questioning in connection with government-alleged bribery.

C. Of C. Leader Cites Need For Parking

Unless action is taken soon to provide additional parking facilities in the city, business developments will rapidly decline and the community will "dry up," Louis Manieri, chairman of the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce, told the group at a recent meeting.

Manieri said that the city needs these parking facilities in spite of a recent City Councilman's statement to the contrary. He added that the traffic problem would be greatly reduced if more parking was made available to the city.

He pointed out that lack of parking space is hurting business in Salem since many persons who would originally buy in the city are going out of town. This situation, he claims, is due to the heavy Salem traffic and poor parking facilities.

It would prove profitable to the city if council would study developments made in neighboring cities that have corrected their problems by providing adequate parking space, Manieri said.

Breakdown Of Pump Adds To Water Troubles

Repairs Under Way; Well Collapse, Leak In Main Reported

Salem's already critical water situation was further complicated yesterday and today with the breakdown of a main pump, a well and the discovery of a leak in a 16-inch city line.

The Whinnery well, capable of producing between 75 and 100 gallons of water per minute, collapsed yesterday, Water Superintendent B. V. BeVier said. The breakdown occurred when the well casing and shaft rusted through.

Mr. BeVier stated that a well driller would be employed to repair the well which he said had been overhauled only last year.

Deming Pump Co. employes are working steadily today in an effort to repair the 500-gallon-per-minute pump at the Waterworks Pumping station which went out of order last night. The pump is expected to be in operation again tonight or early tomorrow, Mr. BeVier said.

The pump breakdown means that only half as much water is being pumped through the city's mains as before. The remainder, pumped to the W. State St. basins by the well pumps, is gradually accumulating at the water works.

A leak in the 16-inch water main was discovered today at the intersection of Mill and Newgarden Streets, the water superintendent said. The leak had been suspected for some time, he said, but the main had not been dug up before because there was no water on the street to confirm the suspicion.

The water department last year was plagued with continual leaks in that line. Mr. BeVier said that the breaks were occasioned by the passage of heavy vehicles over Newgarden St., causing the line to vibrate in its setting of marshy earth.

Restrictions imposed to alleviate the water shortage will continue in force until further notice, Mr. BeVier said.

Russians Extend Shoot-To-Kill Area To Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The Soviet zone government decreed today an extension of its shoot - to - kill security measures to include the border around Berlin as well as the frontier with West Germany.

An order signed by Communist boss Walter Ulbricht, deputy prime minister, directed the state security police to 'extend generally" the measures begun at first on the interzonal frontier to 'hinder the entrance of diversionists, spies and terrorists in the territory of the German democratic republic.'

It provided sentences at least two years in jail for violators "unless they are not liable for higher-punishment under other regulations." The death penalty is already provided for major violators of a catch-all Communist law "for protection of the peace."

The order came as the Western high commission met in this blockade-threatened city for a discussion of the Communist squeeze.

Derby Steering Cable Arrives For Racers

Steering gear cable for Soap Box Derby racers is now available at Glogan's Hardware, Wesley Houger, derby director, said today.

A shortage of the cable had prevented a large number of boys from completing their racers in time for the trial runs, set for 2 p.m. Sunday on Arch St.

Two new entrants for the June 22 race have been received, both from Sebring. This brings the total of boys competing to 50. Top prizes in the Salem race include a $100 war bond, a bicycle, and a trip to the national derby in Akron for every contestant.

POTATO SHORTAGE ENDED
CINCINATI (AP) — Thirteen carloads of potatoes have been unloaded in Cincinnati since Wednesday morning, John H. Lienhard, U. S. Department of Agriculture reporter, said today.

That has ended the shortage of the spud in this area, at least for the time being, it was stated.

The 10 pound sack of potatoes which cost $11 and $12 a week ago now sells for $9 and $10.

Ike, Taft Seek To Sway Votes From N. Jersey

Both GOP Candidates In New York To Talk To State Delegation

By The Associated Press

The Taft - Eisenhower tug-of-war for Republican presidential - nominating votes swung to New York City today, each contender huddling separately with the same group — New Jersey's 38-member delegation.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower has been holding conferences all this week with state delegates to the July 7 national convention. Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio, his chief rival for the GOP presidential nomination, arrived in New York Wednesday night for the same purpose.

Paths Cross

Their paths crossed at the outset. The New Jersey bloc, now heavily pro - Eisenhower, meets with Taft and an hour and a half later confers with Eisenhower. The strategy on both sides: With all but 13 of the 1,206 delegates chosen, the time has come to tighten favoring alignments and win over fence-riders and those leaning the other way.

Neither Taft nor Eisenhower now has the 604 - vote majority needed for nomination. The Associated Press tabulation, based on avowed and conceded preferences, lists 464 for Taft and 391 for Eisenhower, with 130 spread among others and 208 disputed or uncommitted.

Dems Race Inconclusive

The Democratic race, to be decided at the party's July 21 convention, was even more inconclusive. To date, 1,058 of the 1,230 delegates have been chosen, with Connecticut scheduled to add 16 more at a convention Friday.

The Associated Press tally shows Tennessee's Sen. Estes Kefauver ahead with 246 votes. Second is Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia with 86½, followed by Mutual Security Administrator W. Averell Harriman with 85½. Others have a total of 246, and 394 are not yet staked off.

These most active candidates for the Democratic nomination, which requires a majority vote of 616, either were campaigning or getting ready to. Harriman was touring

In a speech prepared for delivery at a luncheon meeting of the "Hundred Club,' a group of Republican women, Taft said parole from prison "is too readily used to relieve the population pressure inside overcrowded prison walls."

399 Anti-Red POWs Escape Communists

Many Still Missing, Feared Killed, As GIs Move Prisoners

KOJE ISLAND, Korea (AP)—U. S. troops hunted today for missing comrades of 399 frightened anti-Communist prisoners of war who broke away from 4,800 marching Reds.

The breakaway came during an otherwise orderly evacuation of the fourth trouble - ridden POW enclosure at this United Nations prison camp.

The anti - Red POWs said the missing prisoners had been haled before Communist kangaroo courts before today's transfer. They did not report the number.

16 POWs Killed

Death at the hands of their die-hard leaders was the fate of 16 POWs missing from an enclosure emptied Wednesday.

The camp commander, Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, is expected to order evacuation of a fifth compound, No. 66, Friday. Some of the 2,700 ugly-tempered North Korean officers and 650 noncoms there are reported fashioning knives and spears.

Met With Leaders

Boatner met today with their leaders, some of whom were shown the smouldering wreckage of Compound 76, the first to be emptied. Thirty - nine prisoners died and at least 150 were injured there in a Tuesday battle with U. S. paratroopers. The 39th death was reported today. Many of the 39 were speared to death by fellow Reds.

Compound 66 is guarded by one company of the King's Shropshire light infantry of Britain, and one company of the Royal Canadian regiment. However, indications were the U. S. 38th Regiment would supervise the evacuation.

Remains Dug Up

The remains of 16 savagely killed prisoners were dug up in the third emptied compound, No. 77. But so far soldiers found no bodies in the fourth, No. 95. Unlike 77, there were no homemade weapons or escape tunnnels.

Transfer of POWs from No. 95 brought operation breakup to the 30 per cent mark. Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, Koje commander, intends to wrest control of the 80,000 internees from their Red leaders by moving them to new, smaller compounds and splitting them inta groups of about 500.

Some 24,400 have been moved. Thirteen compounds remain to be emptied and there is a chance of violence in at least two of them.

The transfer from compound No. 95 was orderly, in contrast to the hour fight that left 39 prisoners killed and 150 wounded when the first compound—No. 76—was emptied Tuesday.

Many of the 399 POWs who broke away plainly feared death at the hands of their Red leaders. Others who tried to escape were dragged by the Communists into compound 91, their new, temporary enclosure.

"Now we will live,' one grateful North Korean soldier sighed after he had safely fled the marching Reds.

The anti-Red POWs broke away in groups of up to 10 men. They tore off their Red star-decorated hats, trampled them in the dust and awaited the arrival of guards.

The evacuation started with exchange of salutes and handshakes between the leader of the compound and Gen. Boatner. The Allied camp commander said no one would be hurt if orders were obeyed. He rejected the Red leader's request for an hour's delay.

Intelligence officers found the Reds' documents burned. They surmised word of the transfer had come through the prison 'grapevine." Leaders of compound 95 surrendered the bodies of eight prisoners killed in an April 10 clash with Allied guards.

The 4,800 Reds were herded temporarily into compound 91, where unarmed guards moved freely among them.

The 39 who broke away were taken for questioning to compound 61. Guards put with them two Anti-communists who scaled the barbed wire fence of 91.

Golf Club To Be Remodeled, Enlarged In $75,000 Project

The Salem Golf Club on the Lisbon Road is going to be completely remodeled, according to a project announced today by officers of the club.

Plans for the improvement, costing approximately $75,000, were begun early in the winter and recently received the approval of the membership.

The present Barn at the club will be revamped and an addition built to house a new dining room and kitchen.

New shower facilities will be installed. A powder room and shower facilities for the women also will be built. A central heating system is planned.

Enlargement of the building also will include a pro shop. The roof of the new addition will be converted into a patio for lounging.

The second floor, where dances and parties are held, likewise will be remodeled.

Al Parker, Golf Club president, and Lloyd Gordon, chairman of the building committee, said today that contracts for the work would be let soon after detailed plans and specifications were furnished to contractors for bidding.

It is anticipated that work may start no later than Sept. 1.

Others on the building committee include Walter Deming, co-chairman, E. M. Stephenson, James Wingard and Dr. George Jones.

Already situated in a picturesque, rolling countryside, the Golf Club building itself will enhance the setting when finally completed.

Scout Camporal Opens Friday

200 Youths To Take In Weekend Event

More than 200 area youths are completing final packing and plans in preparation for the 22nd annual Boy Scout Camporal of the Columbiana Council which will open Friday afternoon at the McKinley Scout Reservation near Lisbon.

The annual event, designed to give scouts actual training in outdoor activities, will continue through Sunday. Last year 240 participated and over the years over 4,000 scouts have attended.

Called "adventure in short term camping," patrols of no more than eight boys will be competing for award ribbons. The youths will be under the direction of an adult leader, but must do their tent pitching, cooking and other activities themselves.

A campfire for the scouts will be held Friday night at 8:30.

Cooks and firebuilders will roll out at 5:30 a.m. Saturday with the other scouts up a half hour later. Following breakfast at 7, inspections of camp sites will be made by leaders. They will be checked on such matters as fire protection, tents, fire places, food and water storage and other campcraft matters.

Saturday afternoon will be taken up with contests and scout demonstrations with points awarded on the basis of excellent, good and fair. Demonstrations will include first aid, compass reading physical fitness, signalling, knot tying and others.

After the contests, the scouts will be given an hour for swimming in the camp pool.

Guests Invited

Following the evening meal at 6, a color ceremony for parents and guests will be held at 8 followed by a campfire at 8:30.

Sunday morning will start the same as Saturday with another inspection of areas set for 8.

Church services for Protestant boys will be held at 9 at the open air chapel at the camp by Rev. John G. Waelde of the Lisbon Methodist Church. Catholic youths will attend 8 o'clock mass at St. George Catholic Church at Lisbon.

After the noon meal, the final area and personal inspections will be made.

Edgar Moser of Columbiana is camporal director while John Hartwell is scout executive for the council.

$247 Is Stolen At Service Station

Police were notified today that a burglar broke into the Knox Gulf Service Station on West State St. sometime between 11 last night and 8:15 a.m. today, escaping with $247.79 in currency and change.

E. L. Knox, owner of the station, told police the money had been locked in an old safe inside the building. He said the money box stored in the safe had been taken along with the cash.

Investigation revealed no marks of any kind on the safe which was still locked this morning when the store was opened. A combination lock on the safe showed no signs of being tampered with.

A small rear window in the building was broken out, but police found no marks of anyone who might have crawled through the window.

Union, Industry To Reopen Few Struck Plants

Truman Said Ready To Use Taft-Hartley If House Requests It

WASHINGTON (AP) — Union and management officials get together with government chiefs today to plan the reopening of a few strike-bound steel plants to produce weapons for U.S. troops fighting in Korea.

On Capitol Hill, the Senate faced new moves to arm President Truman with power to seize the industry again, and force all of its far-flung plants back into operation for other defense needs and the civilian economy.

Four times in two days the Senate has rejected by top-heavy margins proposals to give Truman the seizure powers he asked, voting instead to request him to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act's anti-strike injunction provisions.

Terems Move Unfair

The President has told Congress "this would be grossly unfair," but he was reported ready to comply if the House also tells him Taft-Hartley is its answer to the strike.

Truman contends that the Taft-Hartley Act's 80-day strike ban would only defer pay raises he says the workers deserve, and there is no guarantee the workers would obey it.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, co-author of the law, has called that statement an invitation to the 650,000 striking CIO steelworkers to defy an injunction.

Seek Vote by Night

Senate leaders drove to dispose of the whole issue, and get a final vote by nightfall on a bill to continue the anti-inflation Defense Production Act, with which it has become so tightly intertwined.

This will shift the spotlight to the House, whose banking committee is drafting its own version of the extension bill. The Defense Production Act, which provides the British Okay TV Commercials, Hope They Won't Be Like U.S.

LONDON (AP)—The House of Commons decided last to allow advertising someday on British television. The Conservative government assured Parliament that programs would not be like those in America, because Britons "are a much more mature and sophisticated people.'

The government's scheme—approved by a 297-269 vote—calls for commercial TV stations, with advertising, as an experiment when the country's financial position improves enough to lift controls on spending by private firms.

Until then—British TV as well as the nation's radio will remain a monopoly of the government-controlled British Broadcasting Corporation which accepts no advertising.

Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe told the House it was foolish to assume commercial sponsors would lower TV's standards here.

"I am not impressed by analogies from the United States,' he said. 'We have our typically British way of resolving problems of taste. We are a much more mature and sophisticated people.'

Laborite opponents, who want the government to keep control, contended commercial TV would mean U.S.-type children's programs in which "the gun, the gat, the rod and six-shooter is the prime motivator.'

Escaped Convict Murders Hostage

Fugitive Stabs Girl, 9, As Police Close In

CARMEL, N.Y. (AP)—An escaped convict, making a desperate effort to seize a getaway car, stabbed a 9-year-old girl hostage to death yesterday as police closed in on him.

Hit by three police bullets, the convict surrendered and was taken to a hospital.

His little victim, stabbed with a butcher knife as her mother looked on helpless, died an hour later.

The slayer, Donald Snyder, 25, of Canastota, N.Y., gave warning of his desperation and cried:

"If you come near me, I'll stab the child."

Alex Williams, 45, school bus driver and a special policeman, tried to persuade Snyder to release the child, Betty Lou Arnold. As he talked, he sidled up closer and fired, hitting Snyder. The convict then plunged the knife into the little girl's abdomen.

Williams fired two more shots, and Snyder gave up the fight.

Williams drove the school bus that brought Betty Lou home late yesterday.

The little girl, daughter of a prosperous hardware merchant, was crossing the lawn to join her young sister and another child when Snyder emerged from behind a bush.

He walked up to the house and told Mrs. Snyder:

"I'm an escaped convict. The cops are after me. I'm not fooling. I want you to let me in here or I'll take your children.'

The mother screamed to the children: "Run, Run!" Two of them ran, but Snyder seized Betty Lou. Williams, seeing Snyder grab the child, drove away to get his gun.

As Mrs. Arnold ran toward a phone, Snyder kicked open the house door, dragged Betty Lou into the kitchen and grabbed the butcher knife.

He told the woman: "I want you to drive me to New York'—more than 50 miles away.

As Snyder held the knife close to the child, her mother led them to the cellar garage and they got into the family car.

While Mrs. Arnold stalled for time, Williams arrived with his gun. He and State Trooper Raymond Scarrachio, summoned by neighbors, sought to rescue the child.

Putnam County Dist. Atty. Fred A. Dickinson said a murder charge against Snyder would be presented to a grand jury tomorrow.

No Law Found Against Harboring Criminals

EASTON, Pa., (AP) — A County Court judge has ruled that "through a strange omission in criminal law," it is not a crime in Pennsylvania to conceal a man after he has broken out of jail.

President Judge William G. Barthold of Northampton county made the comment yesterday in quashing indictments against William Kloiber, 38, Danielsville, Pa., and Stephen F. Kloiber, 31, of Bath, Pa.

The brothers were charged with concealing Michael J. Senkovich of Allentown after he escaped from the Bucks County jail in Doylestown last December.

The masked fireman braved the acrid rubber fumes to make the rescue, but the boy died later in a hospital. Fireman James Barton (right) mirrors tragedy in his face. Macedo and another boy who also died had entered the shop to help put out the blaze before firemen arrived and both were trapped by the fumes.

Airline Not Permitted To Drop 5% Discount

The board denied, for the second time yesterday, a petition by Capital Airlines that it modify an earlier order and eliminate the discounts immediately.

Roving Reports By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Millions of American husbands are going forth now to ply the nation's streams with rod and reel.

And guess who's going along, too? Mama!

The lady fisherman is a rising figure in the world's oldest sport.

Just why is beyond me. I have become reconciled to the fact that baseball no longer could get by without the financial benefit of lady rooters. Lady wrestlers I can understand, as they get paid for their hair - pulling mayhem.

But the why and the wherefore of the enormous increase in the number of lady anglers escape me altogether. Women are highly practical creatures, and if there is anything more impractical than dangling a line in a stream and waiting please name it. I can't.

Men know fishing is an illogical business, of course, and that is why it has appealed to them for centuries. They enjoy romantic nonsense, and always have. The more senseless a thing is the greater appeal it has for many men.

Fishing is a perfect escape from reality for them, a chance to daydream under a summer sun, away from the cares of husbandhood and parenthood. And a fishing party made up of the right kind of fellows never even bothers to drop a hook into the water at all. They get out the jug and the cards and settle down happily to the real purpose of the trip. Anyone of the group who insists on fishing is shouted down by all as a traitor.

This, of course, is perfect fishing. Everybody has a swell time, including the fish, who pick up a few sandwich crumbs. Nobody gets hurt.

Who really wants to catch a fish anyway? If you do, you have to carry it home, clean it — a messy job — and stow it in the refrigerator, where it smells up the rest of the food. If you hook a record size fish, the taxidermist charges you $42.50 to stuff it. You hang it on the wall then, where it catches dust until the day it falls off and conks one of your children on the head.

The entrance of women into fishing has changed it from an individual manly sport into a family industry. Papa may not care a hang whether he catches what is called a piscatorial prize, but mama does. She didn't go all that distance for nothing. She wants to bring something home.

She goes about the task as grimly as if her husband was a bachelor again, hidden beneath the surface and trying to evade her lure.

'That is why I believe more and more wives like to go fishing,' one veteran told me. "Every time they haul up a wet, dripping fish it gives them the same thrill they got when they first snared their man. It's eerie, I tell you."

This same old rascal has a theory also why women often turn out to be better anglers than their husbands.

"A woman drops in her line and the fish swims up, looks at it and sneers," he said. "Then he looks up through the water and sees staring down at him some frizzle-haired monster overflowing a pair of blue jeans. She is wearing dark goggles and her nose is covered with lumps of sunburn cream.

"The fish breaks out laughing, 'Ho, ho, ho!' This is something the other fish ought to see. He opens his mouth, and turns his head to call his buddies — and accidentally the hook swings into his mouth.

"I suppose a million fish a year are caught just that way.'

Whatever the reason, mama has her fish. That's all she cares.

Among early Anglo-Saxons a bridegroom was given a shoe by the bride's father and custom dictated that he strike his bride on the head with it to prove he was master.

Lose Ugly Fat Safely
Don't Miss the Joy of Living

If you are overweight, shame on you. You'll agree that it just doesn't make sense to be overweight when you read this letter from Mrs. Cora Shepherd, 404 E. 5th St., Greenville, Ohio.

Mrs. Shepherd writes: "A few months ago I weighed 204 lbs.—was so short of breath that I almost couldn't do my work. Now I weigh 152 lbs. and feel much better. Since losing those 52 lbs. my friends are all telling me how much better I look. I did not have to go on a strict diet or starve myself. Rennel is a wonderful product. I have had very definite, excellent results."

It's amazing how quickly you can lose unsightly fat at home. Obtain 4 ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate at your druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple easy way to lose ugly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves, just return it for your money back. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. Insist on Rennel.

The Little Leaguers

Salem fans are really playing ball with the Little Leaguers.

In their first time up, the fans pitched in a total of $1,142 to help the Little Leaguers, the Junior Legion and Hot Stove League baseball teams.

No sincere citizen ignored the small uniformed players when they held their Tag Day solicitations on downtown street corners last Saturday. Sponsors of the baseball activity for the enthusiastic youngsters were warm in their praise of the public after the day's contributions had been counted.

The minor league baseball is indeed a worthwhile project and the choice of Centennial Park for the games is much better than herding the boys to some far distant vacant lo.

Boys aged 8 to 12 are eligible for the Little League. The Hot Stove Loop takes in boys 12 to 15, while youth 15 to 18 are qualified for the Junior Legion team.

The leagues are off to a good start. We imagine the boys would like your personal appearance and vocal support at the park when the games are being played.

School's Out

Not every traffic accident this summer in which a school child is injured or killed will be traceable to the fact school is out. But it will take extra caution to hold down this type of accident.

The reason is obvious.

All traffic accidents are subject to the law of moving bodies. This is why it is possible to predict with fair accuracy how many persons will be killed and injured during a holiday weekend. The statisticians know approximately how many cars will be on the road, and experience shows how many accidents to expect.

From now until next September, hundreds of school children will be crossing streets during times of the day when they have been in classrooms.

The risk of maiming or killing them will be greater. Without extra care on the part of all drivers, their rising risk will show up in a rising accident rate.

Give the children the benefit of every traffic doubt.

Respect Was Mutual

Nothing like Louis P. Reese ever happened to Scio before, or is likely to happen again. His death last week leaves the community he helped to put back on its feet with his leadership of its pottery enterprise deeply in his debt.

But the unique thing about Lou Reese's relationship with Scio is that he felt the debt lay on him, rather than on the residents of Scio. He could not have rehabilitated the Scio pottery without the loyalty and skill of its workers. He never tired of showing them how he felt about them.

Here was an instance of complete compatibility between management and workers — a forthright recognition by both parties to the industrial contract that they were mutually dependent. That is universally true, but it is not universally acknowledged. If it were, many of the problems of the industrial age would disappear.

When the history of the industrial revolution which swept the world is finally written, there should be a footnote in it about Lou Reese and his friends and neighbors in Scio who pulled together instead of separately.

Striking The Keynote

The Republican convention could not have been given a more representative keynote speaker than Gen. MacArthur. The choice of the five-star general who became the victim of the Truman administration's confusion at home and abroad is a keynote in itself.

Those who will criticize the choice of MacArthur because he is favorable to the candidacy of Sen. Robert Taft are overlooking the central fact about the Republican party's political situation in 1952. The party cannot help but be favorable to the views of Sen. Taft, unless it wants to fall into the sucker trap of me-tooism.

Taft—and MacArthur—were upholding a Republican viewpoint long before Gen. Eisenhower was suspected of being a Republican, even by inference. Certainly it is significant that at the outset of his bid for the party's presidential nomination, one of Eisenhower's first policy declarations was in favor of the interim Republican platform prepared in 1950.

Fun is fun, but even in politics there must be a limit. The choice of Douglas MacArthur to make the keynote address to the Republican convention is not a personal triumph for Sen. Taft. It is a triumph for the political integrity which has been making millions of Americans wistful for the days when men said what was on their minds and let voters decide the issues.

If Gen. MacArthur cannot say what is on the minds of Republicans, including the minds of the people who favor Eisenhower over Taft, the job can't be done and shouldn't be attempted.

Italy Comes Back

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Nation Would Like Economic Independence

ROME, ITALY

Maybe there are folks back in the United States who think that running a European country, keeping its economy in balance, avoiding unemployment and restraining the ever-present Communist party from taking over the government is a simple matter that requires only the giving away of a few more American dollars. But that isn't the case here at all.

Talking with Alcide de Gasperi, premier of the Italian government, this correspondent got a picture of the various problems that congront this country and noted that first and foremost were those which might be called "psychological." This, of course, is related to political and economic stability but it can best be described as reviving and sustaining the "morale" of the people.

For Italy has had Mussolini and the Fascists, who squelched democracy for more than 20 years of ironc rule, and Italy has seen her railroads, her bridges, her factories and tens of thousands of homes ruined by bombs, first from the allies and later from the planes of the retreating Germans.

HOW DOES ONE go about rebuilding such a nation and giving it the liberties of a republic under a constitution? Who are the experts in America or elsewhere —who can say just what is the right dose of financial aid and what is the right contribution of political support? And when a consitutional democracy is set up, what does one do about the old-time fascists who arise to stab in the back the very government which has been and is administering to the Communists their most severe defeats in Europe?

American economic aid has, of course, been a lifesaver. Premier de Gasperi is grateful, and he rarely makes a public speech that he doesn't mention the gratitude of Italy for what the United States has done. But the emphasis here is more on the moral support given by America now, for the aid has dwindled to about $167,000,000 a year, though the total postwar help of all kinds has been around $2,000,000,000.

What the premier would like is to be able to say publicly that not another dollar of American financial grants is necessary. He would rather see normal economy established, with the customary channels of trade in operation, than to see grants continued and and unsound situation perpetuated. How can this be done? The answers are readily given, but the solutions are not palatable to American political interests.

THUS, THE Italian government faces an unemployment of about 2,000,000—just enough to give the Fascists and Communists the campaign ammunition they need for agitation—and a balance sheet on trade which shows that Italy is producing more goods than she can sell abroad because of tariff barriers. The American tariff has its justifications up to a point, but it certainly raises a question as to whether it is better for American firms in some isolated lines to have a bit lower duty to compete with, or whether it is better for conditions to be created abroad which must eventually disintegrate these free nations and force them into the hands of Communist Russia, with all the military armament and possible war that is implied in the long run.

Italy not only cannot export goods as it desires but it cannot even export people. It has an excess of population, and in the old days sent out about 400,000 emigrants a year. Now the number is around 150,000.

Many Italians are ready to join their kinfolk overseas and, while it is realized that the United States permits only limited quotas to enter, there are other places in the world ready to receive new population. But here, too, restrictive conditions are encountered and international agencies would do well to study what can be done to alleviate this problem.

Then, there's the question of compromise with Tito over Trieste, the failure to settle which has given the Fascists a powerful issue for agitation.

AMERICAN POLICY from an economic standpoint has on the whole been well carried out, but an example of how little the problems here are understood back home is the criticism voiced in Washington over the building of the new railroad station in Rome. It cost about $5,000,000, paid for out of Italian funds. It is probably the most artistic railroad station in all Europe. In America it might have been criticized as too luxurious. But the purpose behind it was sound.

The Italians are impressed by art and beauty and, since this station sees more of the traveling public than any other rail terminal in the country, it was a psychological move that helped convince a frustrated and worried people that normal times are coming back and that the nation can build as many fine things under a republic as were built under Mussolini.

The problem of Premier de Gasperi is back-breaking. The success of the Fascists in the recent elections merely emphasize that, with the totalitarian influences moving in from both the right and the left, the center party will need the moral support of every freedom-living element in this country and abroad.

The outlook is far from pessimistic, but the job is a long, uphill pull, and it's going to require infinite patience both here and in the United States.

Flying Highest

By TRUMAN TWILL

With considerable urging from the vice president in charge of interior and exterior decorating, our house is going to have a flagpole in time for Flag Day if all goes well.

Whether you have a flag or not, that glorious piece of fabric with the broad stripes and bright stars will be 175 years old this June 14. It was adopted by Congress in 1777.

Our house never has had a flagpole. It did not even have its own flag, until recently that omission was corrected. When the new banner was unfurled from a temporary mast on Memorial Day this year, the idea of more suitable equipment was immediately evident.

Countless times that day, the sight of that clean symbol waving in the wind brought satisfaction—the special kind of satisfaction which comes from stimulating those half-forgotten feelings which can be stimulated by symbolism. But it needed to fly higher.

Under that bright banner have happened all the things which make the human beings who call themselves Americans proud of their birthright. Within the spirit represented by the American flag will happen all the things which will keep Americans from needing to apologize for what they have done with their birthright.

The finest of the young men have marched off to war under the Stars and Stripes. Those who died have gone to their graves under its folds. Its presence anywhere in the world has betokened the presence of a belief unique in history—a belief that Christianity was meant to be practiced; not merely studied.

If the erection of a flagpole at the Twillery needed to be rationalized, Old Glory itself would be sufficient. But there is more to it than that; there is a less worthy motive.

It has been agreed that the place needs a banner of its own, to be displayed on occasions when nothing would be taken away from the symbolic message of the flag which will fly highest.

Suggestions are being received. Such as black figures on a white field showing the unpaid balance of the mortgage, the same to be changed from year to year until the mortgage is paid off.

Also a suggestion that a series of flags be designed to impart information, like signal flags in the U. S. Navy. These flags would be interpreted by a code book. Thus, plenty of ice but no soda would be the message conveyed by a blue pennant flying above a white. The white pennant on top would mean plenty of soda but no ice, etc.

But first there must be a flag pole. It is ready, except for the last coat of paint—20 feet of steel pipe with a gilded croquet ball fastened to the top and a pulley bolted to the side.

Old Glory will look mighty pretty up there on July 4, if Flag Day comes too soon.

A sort of floating dock has been revealed that can crawl under a giant flying boat that has landed on the water, float it toward the shore, then carry it high up on dry land to a parking platform. This seaplane beaching gear is a self-powered device that can submerge itself, move forward, backward, or sideways, or crawl onto sandy beaches on its own treads.

SIDE GLANCES By Galbraith

"No, I can't swim, but I'm not going in the water just because you passed your life-saving test and haven't rescued anybody yet!"

Metamorphosis

The Foreign Atmosphere

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Whenever I come among foreigners, particularly such as represent their countries in the United States or at the United Nations, I cannot help wondering if they know anything at all about this country and the American people or whether they even care.

George E. Sokolsky

In the first place, most of them congregate in New York and Washington where they only read the comparatively small circulation newspapers that please them. They read the columnists who have a great reputation as friends of Europe but whose impress in America is limited to the internationist coterie. One would imagine that these foreign representatives would realize that as long as they are dependent upon our subsidies, they ought to know what Main Street thinks.

These people talk to each other a great deal, but they rarely talk to those Americans whose influence lopped a billion dollars and more off the foreign aid bill. When they believe, as they really do, that if we stopped subsidizing Europe and Asia, we should go into a deep depression, one can only remind them that that is what Stalin and Henry Wallace and even Harry Truman thought would happen in 1946 and it has not happened yet.

THEY EXPLAIN this phenomenon—and they all talk alike—by saying that we stayed out of a depression by making the Korean War and by the Marshall Plan, ECA and NATO. What knocks me over every time I get into one of these discussions is that these people honestly believe that we got into the Korean War to keep out of a depression and that the Europeans actually are doing us a great favor by letting us give them aid to defend their countries, as otherwise we should decay into a hopeless bankruptcy. The Marshall Plan, from their standpoint, was not American aid to Europe; it was European aid to America.

If you think that I am making all this up, get into an argument with these gentlemen or their ladies. It will not take you long to discover that nobody is grateful for what we have done, for $50,000,000,000 of lend-lease during World War II or about $30,000,000,000 since. We did all that to keep out of a depression and they took the money to help us stay out of depression and war.

I am a very mild-mannered person, but when I am told to my face, as often happens, that if we stop giving our money the entire world will unite against us, I am tempted to say, unite and be damned, because there is something impudent and intolerable in the attitude of these people who accept our bounty witthout shame, yet hate us for it. And they seem to admit that there is an emotional response in Europe against parvenu America that is so rich and powerful.

It is like an old relative who has seen better days and who must make a nuisance of herself to prove that what is done for her is her due and not the goodness of young hearts.

I WAS RECENTLY told that the backward nations are not responsible for their backwardness, but rather that they should be aided to become forward nations by American money dispensed by the United States.

When I asked why, if the United States pays for all this progress, should we not do the job ourselves, pasting an American label on it, they answered that that is not humane. It is colonialism. It should all be sheer charity, with no return intended or expected. Point Four is like that, but, according to beneficiaries, it ought to be done entirely by the United Nations so that nobody will have to be grateful to anybody.

When I listen to Park Avenue ladies talking gushingly that way, I do not feel much pain. They are a dying race among us. But when I hear hear the men who are reporting America back to European nations talk that way, I realize that there is trouble in store for us when we have to tell these foreigners that we can give them no more subsidies, that it is none of our business to keep their politicians in power and that we despise their socialism of whatever form.

It would do these people good if they traveled in this country and listened to what most Americans think of them and their gimmies.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — While the steel strike goes on the President and Congress play bean-bag. The President tosses the strike problem to Congress. Congress tosses it back.

The President's plea to Congress was: Give me a law that can do something about a strike. So far the reaction seems to be: Stew in your own juice; you already have a law.

The President could use the Taft-Hartley act, which is supposed to stop a strike for 80 days but it is questionable whether the steel already on strike, would go back now even if ordered.

But Truman says he doesn't like T-H. He says it's a poor way to solve the problem. Philip Murray doesn't like T-H either. He's president of the striking CIO Steelworkers and a political ally of Truman.

So Truman asks Congress for a brand new piece of legislation, giving him authority to seize the steelmills, just as he did without law before the Supreme Court told him last week to give them back.

But Congress, or those members of it who disagree with him or don't like him or don't like labor unions, have him over a bit of a barrel. Since T-H does exist and hasn't been tried they can tell him to try it before coming to them.

If Truman had played this scene differently in the beginning—by using T-H when a steel strike was first threatened last Jan. 1—he'd have had Congress over a barrel.

If he had used T-H, of course, there's no telling how badly this might have fractured his friendship with murray or how many labor votes it might have cost the Democrats.

If he had used T-H back in January to delay the strike 80 days, once that time was up and there was no settlement, the workers could have struck. There was no other law to stop or delay them further.

In that case Truman could have gone to Congress and said: See, T-H didn't work, so give me a law that will.

Congress wouldn't have been able to toss anything back at him then. He could have sat by, letting Congress stew in its own juice until it finally gave him authority he wanted.

Instead, he tried everything but T-H. He succeeded, first by persuasion and then by illegal seizure of the mills, to delay the strike six months, which was much longer than the 80 days T-H could have delayed it.

If the strike continues much longer and Congress still won't bail him out, Truman probably will have to use T-H to try to get the workers back on the job. And that might not be mad political medicine for Truman.

At the end of 80 days, if there was still no settlement, the workers could walk out again, that time with nothing to stop them unless Congress passed some new law.

But by that time it would be around the first of September, just a couple of months before election, and Congress is not expected to be in session that long. So Congress might have to stop electioneering and return.

In addition, if Truman, having stood on the union's side so long in this case, is finally pushed into using T-H, it's doubtful labor leaders like Murray would be very angry with him.

From Truman's viewpoint, if he has to use T-H, it might not be bad to do so now while using it last January might have been poison.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Fun, My Eye!

We continue to be intrigued by a recent U.S. Court of Claims decision that the author of "Forever Amber," Kathleen Winsor, is entitled to a tax refund because she "writes only for her amusement and does not work at it."

We can't believe that writing "Forever Amber" was a romp all the way and that it meant nothing but good, clean fun. No blood, sweat or tears . . . . no all-night effort . . . . no moments when Miss Winsor cried out "Amusement, my eye! This is the toughest kind of job!"

The court should make it clear at what point a writer becomes a pro and under what conditions he or she retains an amateur standing.

Judge Gregory Q. Switch, our favorite jurist (he sits only by request), when asked for an opinion by us, declared that the Washington court was "all wrong." "Anybody who makes a million dollars on a book and a Hollywood movie is a pro and is not writing for fun," he stated. "You automatically step out of the class of a writer for amusement when the book clicks (Winch versus Boffle, Vermont, 1938) and you cash in with a best seller. It was held in Jedds versus Hoffmeister, New Jersey, 1941, that a writer is not, ipso facto, a pro only when he lives in a garret, starves, goes a little nuts, gets all the manuscripts back and admits he is working hard and that it is one helluva life.

—:—

"I cite the case of Muggswater versus Popovers, Arizona, 1915," continued Judge Switch. "The court held, and I quote, 'The contention that it is possible to write a novel of more than 300 pages and not find it a steady job, a form of voluntary slavery and an exploit in concentrated effort is hereby thrown out as absurd. If there is any amusement it comes when the writer stops writing and goes to a clambake or ball game instead.'"

"The Washington court classified an amateur writing for her own amusement by pointing out she had only written two novels," he remarked.

"The first two or three novels are the hardest," said Judge Switch, "and if you ever get that far in book publication you are out of the amateur class. You not only ceased to do it for fun, but you have developed nervous tremors, high blood pressure, extreme fatigue, spots before the eyes, chronic indigestion, circles under the eyes and a dozen other disorders to prove you have been working without amusement for years, as Judge Calabash said in the case of Prunewhip versus Alligator."

—:—

We told the judge we had written 14 books (unpublished), 1,246 magazine articles (unaccepted) and 50 movies (sent back C.O.D.).

"Why be bothered by this decision?" he snapped. "You are caught somewhere in the zone between pure fun and semiprofessionalism. All you do is change your glasses."

Two swallows have built their nest in the truce tent at Panmunjum . . . . They will never get back to Capistrano if they let the trip get under discussion . . . . We never realized how much zip a uniform gives a man until we saw Gen. Eisenhowed with it off . . . . He loses a lot on video . . . . And he is nowhere nearly as effective speaking from notes as when talking extemporaneously . . . . Estes Kefauver is so far ahead in the Democratic race that he is practically eliminated . . . . "President Truman after dedicating the atomic submarine will visit the farm of former Attorney General McGrath near Point Judith, as a stopover."—News item. . . . The atomic sub will be dedicated at New London and anybody who uses Point Judith as a stopover on the way back to Washington is reaching the capital the hard way. . . . "Thrift, frugality and ecenomy must not be lost sight of by Americans."—Gen. Eisenhower. . . . Yeah, but it takes a Lick Observatory telescope to find 'em today, Ike. . . . Isador Lubin, U.S. delegate to the U.N. Economic Council, says America is taking its enormous spending in stride and that there is little danger of trouble. . . . Wanna bet?

Getting the French and Germans into the same uniform will lead to endless uncertainty and greatly complicate espionage unless the boys wear "spy" signs on their caps.

Radio, TV Notebook

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK (AP)—The walkie-talkie, tiny one - man radio station developed in the last war and since applied to various commercial activities, will have an important assignment at the political conventions in Chicago.

CBS reports it plans to make extensive use of the device in the "field,' which includes the convention floor. The latest design is a much improved two - way unit which can be taken any place without the trailing wires of a portable microphone.

The 1952 walkie - talkie weighs 5½ pounds and is smaller and easier to use than the one at the 1948 conventions. It operates on the ultra high - frequency band of 450-452 megacycles. Power supply is from batteries which will run three hours under continuous use.

NBC engineers hope to have ready another device known as the walkie-lookie. This TV station in miniature is so small the camera unit makes only a double handful and the transmitter with tiny microwave antenna attached is so compact it can be carried easily on a man's back.

Just added to the NBC-TV schedule is a convention version of Meet the Press, "TV News Conference,' to be conducted by Lawrence Spivak and Martha Rountree. Four programs will be put on in the course of the two conventions, all at night.

Ever think the day would come when you'd wash out a coat at night, hang it up to dry and find it looking like new and ready to wear the next morning?

That day is here. A pastel coat with no cleaning bills attached has been the dream of many women for many years. The dream is an actuality now, made possible by fluffy orlon fleece that is completely and beautifully washable.

It takes to the suds at night, just as your nylons do, goes on a hanger for drying and is ready for wearing when you get up in the morning. And, of course, it needs no ironing.

It's shown (left) in white, with ponted collar, turn-back cuffs adjustable to any sleeve length and pretty but unexaggerated fulness. A Leeds design, it's the kind of coat, in short, that you can wear and wear witthout fear of grime or smudges. In addition to the white, it's done in pale blue, maize and beige.

Equally practical is Main Street's nylon seersucker coat (right) that's a feather-light rain duster. Point for summer travelers is that it takes only a corner in a suit case. It has mandarin collar and deep turn-back cuffs. The practical hood is detachable.

Installation Ceremony Held By Business, Professional Women

If Attorney Fanyerose Gancfried, past president of the Youngstown Business and Professional Women's Club, had her way Salem women and especially members of the BPW would not take their rights as citizens for granted or "rest on their oars" for the promotion of true equality for women.

Miss Gancfried stated her views when she installed Salem club officers Wednesday evening at the seventh annual dinner meeting in the Presbyterian Church.

The speaker recalled that Salem was the scene of the first Women's Rights Convention in Ohio April 19-20, 1830.

"Salem women should be acutely conscious of this wonderful heritage," the attorney declared. "The seed for the betterment of the status of women was planted then and Salem women and BPW members should live up to their 152-year heritage," she added.

She used the letters of Salem to spell out keynotes of the organization: S for service—philanthropic, plus the promotion of true equality; A for articulate—putting theory to action; L for love—the feelin of loyalty to members and community;

E for endeavor and M for magnitude of efforts that know no bounds. BPW members must aid in righting great wrongs that exist and achieve ideals of peace, Miss Gancfried concluded.

Officers installed were: Mrs. Edward Lamoncha of Columbiana, president; Miss Wilma Schulte, vice president; Miss Leona Ehrhart of Columbiana, secretary, and Mrs. Tom Purviance, treasurer.

Miss Gancfried, who is a past chairman of the state legislation committee, commended last year's officers and all presidents of the club, especially Miss Helen Prudner, retiring president, and Miss Gertrude Butera, first president.

Miss Prudner, who welcomed the guests, presented the gavel and president's pin to Mrs. Lamoncha and Miss Belle Golloday presented Miss Prudner with the past president's pin. Mrs. Lamoncha gave a gift from the club to Miss Gancfried.

Among the 65 members and guests were representatives of Salem Civic clubs including Miss Eleanor McMurray, president, and five members of Quota club; Mr. and Mrs. Loren Early (Kiwanis); Mr. and Mrs. Ray Stiver (Rotary); Hazel Rearick, Margaret Barrow, Mrs. Florence Guy and Helen Eckert (Columbiana BPW) and Kay Stanford and Irene Quinlan (Sebring BPW).

Miss Grace Perry of Akron, retiring director of 20 BPW Clubs in district 4, spoke briefly. Each officer wore a white carnation corsage.

The club's gold and green color theme was carried out in an arrangement of daisies, gladioli, snapdragons and roses on the speakers table. The dining room was decorated with blossoms of all hues.

Program scrolls and colorful handmade ceramic roses marked each place. Members of the October Committee of the Presbyterian Women's Association prepared the dinner. Miss Anna Cook, organist, played the dinner music. The favors were made by Miss Prudner, Enid Zarbaugh, Mrs. Lamoncha, Mary Gill, Mrs. Purviance, Miss Schulte and Mrs. Frank Byerley.

Harpist, Mrs. George Herrmann of Columbiana, entertained with three selections.

Mrs. Lamoncha and Mrs. Ned Massa headed the committees which arranged the event.

Dems Endorse Koje Proposal

Russell, Truman Want Neutrals' Inspection

WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposal to invite neutral military leaders to observe the treatment of Communist prisoners of war on strife-torn Koje Island got a mixed reaction in Congress today. The suggestion by Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga), was endorsed by President Truman.

Some Democratic senators said it would help offset Communist propaganda about the "mistreatment" of Red prisoners. But Republicans, if not hostile to the idea, expressed skepticism that it would prove effective.

One senator told a reporter he feared it might be taken as an admission of weakness.

President Truman suggested in a letter to Secretary of Defense Lovett yesterday that military men from five neutral nations be asked to visit Korea to see at first hand how Communist prisoners are treated by United Nations forces.

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services committee and a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, advanced the idea in a call at the White House two days ago.

A visit to Koje Island by high-ranking neutral military observers, Russell suggested, would be a means of refuting "the mass of falsehoods which are being broadcast to the world by the Communist propaganda machine."

Truman forwarded Russell's memorandum to Lovett with the comment that the proposal had a lot of merit.

"It seems to me,' the President wrote, "that it would be well to ask Sweden, Switzerland, India, Pakistan and Indonesia to send military men to Korea to take a look at the situation and see what really is happening."

Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma, one of Russell's rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination, promptly called it "an excellent suggestion.' He told a reporter it would give representatives of other nations an opportunity to find out "the falseness of Communist propaganda and to brand it as such."

Similar comments were made by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) and Sen. Moody (D-Mich). Moody said he was glad "to see the American government taking more initiative for counteracting false propaganda."

But Sen. Bridges (R-NH) took the view that "we don't need representatives of other nations to go there and tell us if we are conducting the prison camps properly."

Bridges, GOP floor leader in the Senate and top Republican on Russell's Armed Services Committee, said all kinds of reports already have been received and "each day adds some new phase to the disgraceful conditions on Koje."

"The only trouble with American and U.N. supervision there is that they have been too lenient and have compromised their position," he said.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass), another member of the Armed Services Committee, said a visit to Koje by neutral observers would do no harm but he added he was not hopeful "that it would stop the lies of Communist propaganda."

Politics

the west. Kefauver was in North Carolina, ready to swing into his home - state Tennessee Friday. Russell was poised in Washington to start a two - week tour of some 15 states.

After Eisenhower met Wednesday with New York and Maryland GOP delegates, he was quoted as saying he favors a 40-billion-dollar tax cut over the next two or three years.

Federal levies are now about 80 billions, President Truman has requested an 85-billion-dollar budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 and some Republican legislators have proposed a 10-billion-dollar tax reduction.

Eisenhower reportedly said at the closed - door session he believes a budget reduction would ease inflationary pressures and, as a result, the threat of war.

Also on Eisenhower's conference program today were delegations from Virginia, Rhode Island, Vermont and Maine. Taft's schedule includes a recording date, a speech at New York's Republican Club and a reception.

Eisenhower has an important date at Gettysburg, Pa., Friday with the Pennsylvania delegation, whose 70 uncommitted votes could decide a close race. Eisenhower also delivers a speech Saturday at Detroit which may have a big influence on Michigan's 46 votes.

Gov. John Fine of Pennsylvania Wednesday night denied published reports that he suggested a coalition of Pennsylvania, Michigan and Maryland delegates in an effort to decide the nomination battle. The three state's votes total 140.

Taft backers were delighted with a 194 GOP convention rule stipulating that only seating contests affecting delegates - at - large may be presented to the convention for settlement. The rule consigns district delegate contests to state conventions or committees.

This regulation, if upheld at the convention, would cut down the number of votes involved and presumably benefit Taft forces which generally control state convention and committee machinery.

Taft headquarters, meanwhile, announced the appointment of Thomas R. Coleman, Wisconsin industrialist, as floor manager for Taft at the convention. Coleman said he figures Taft has a 540-vote backing and may get the required 604 on the first ballot.

The headquarters also announced Taft will reply via radio and television to Eisenhower's homecoming address at Abilene, Kan. Taft had asked the networks for free time equal to that given Eisenhower. The headquarters said Taft's "reply to Abilene' address had been cleared for 6 to 6:30 p. m., EST, June 19 over NBC radio and television and CBS television.

Material Allotted For Ohio Plant Construction

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Production Authority Wednesday allotted material for construction of 93 Ohio industrial projects to cost more than 115 million dollars.

Largest Ohio project will be a $40,471,727 Ford Motor Co. plant at Berea for manufacture of automobile castings.

Other projects by location and their cost, include:

Lancaster—$10,320,000, auto axle plant, Eaton Mfg. Co.

Jackson — $3,165,650, pig iron plant, Jackson Iron and Steel Co.

Sues Two Doctors in Death Of Husband

A New Cumberland widow filed a $150,000 suit against two East Liverpool osteopaths in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon Wednesday in the death of her husband March 25.

Mrs. Mary Cline, administratrix of the estate of Russell Cline, filed the suit against Dr. John W. Hayes and Dr. James D. Bennett.

Mrs. Cline charges her husband died following an operation performed by the two doctors Feb. 7, 1952.

She alleges the pair were negligent in making improper diagnosis, failing to take necessary and proper precautions following abdominal surgery and improperly caring for her husband both prior and after operation.

Mrs. Cline is asking for $100,000 in the death of her husband and $25,000 for hospital and medical bills.

William E. Scripps, 70, Publisher, Dies

DETROIT (AP) — William E. Scripps, 70, president of the Evening News Association and publisher of the Detroit News, died this morning at his Lake Orion country estate.

His wife Nina, said Scripps died of a heart ailment brought on by a prolonged respiratory disease.

Mrs. Scripps, two sons, Robert Warren, and William John, and a daughter, Mrs. Richard Spitzly, all of Detroit, were at his bedside when Scripps died.

Had he lived until June 26, Scripps would have completed 56 years of service to the News founded by his father, the late James E. Scripps, in 1873.

In addition to his newspaper activities, Scripps was a pioneer in radio broadcasting. He founded the News operated radio station WWJ in 1920. WWJ was the first station in the nation to carry a regular schedule of broadcasts.

FALSE TEETH That Loose Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

Ohio Delegates Said Wavering

2-6 Taft Votes May Turn To Ike

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Plain Dealer reported today it has discovered "foundation" to a report that from two to six of Sen. Robert A. Taft's 56 Ohio convention delegates are wavering.

The newspaper, which has announced its support of Taft for president, said the "deserters reportedly would not come out flatly" for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Rather, it was said, they would announce prior to the Republican convention that "if Taft can't make it, then we will vote for Eisenhower."

The story added:

"Political effect of such a declaration would be tantamount to an Eisenhower endorsement and of tremendous psychological importance to the five-star general, it was believed, because it would indicate at a crucial time that the senator's firmest backers were wavering.

"Several of the possible defections are the outgrowth of a circumstance that has nothing to do with the GOP presidential race between Taft and Eisenhower.

"They are, rather, the direct result of an intense but heretofore unrevealed bitterness among Ohio Republican leaders and delegates regarding the recent retention of Congressman Clarence J. Brown (R-Blanchester) as national committeeman from Ohio and Katharine Kennedy Brown of Dayton as national committeewoman.

"They also stem from a couple of minor grievances, including Ohio assignments to national convention committees, failure of the Taft forces specifically to inform Ohio delegates what is expected of them at the convention which opens in Chicago July 7 and the allocation of Ohio's 182 convention tickets."

Nationwide Weather

By The Associated Press

The nation's weather pattern showed little change today. It was warm and humid over most of the southern half and cool in the northeastern region, the far west and Northern Rockies.

Snow fell in Lakeview, Ore., and temperatures today were at about the freezing mark. At the same time readings were 80 above in Omaha, Neb., and 77 above in Wink, Tex., and Miami. The snowfall at Lakeview, in South Central Oregon, was light, the U. S. Weather Bureau reported.

Thunderstorms, with strong wind, hit Midwest areas Wednesday night and today. Heavy rain fell in parts of the storm belt.

The storms over Southern Wisconsin and Southwestern Lower Michigan spread southward to Northern Illinois and Central and Northern Indiana today. Winds as high as 40 to 55 miles an hour were reported in some areas.

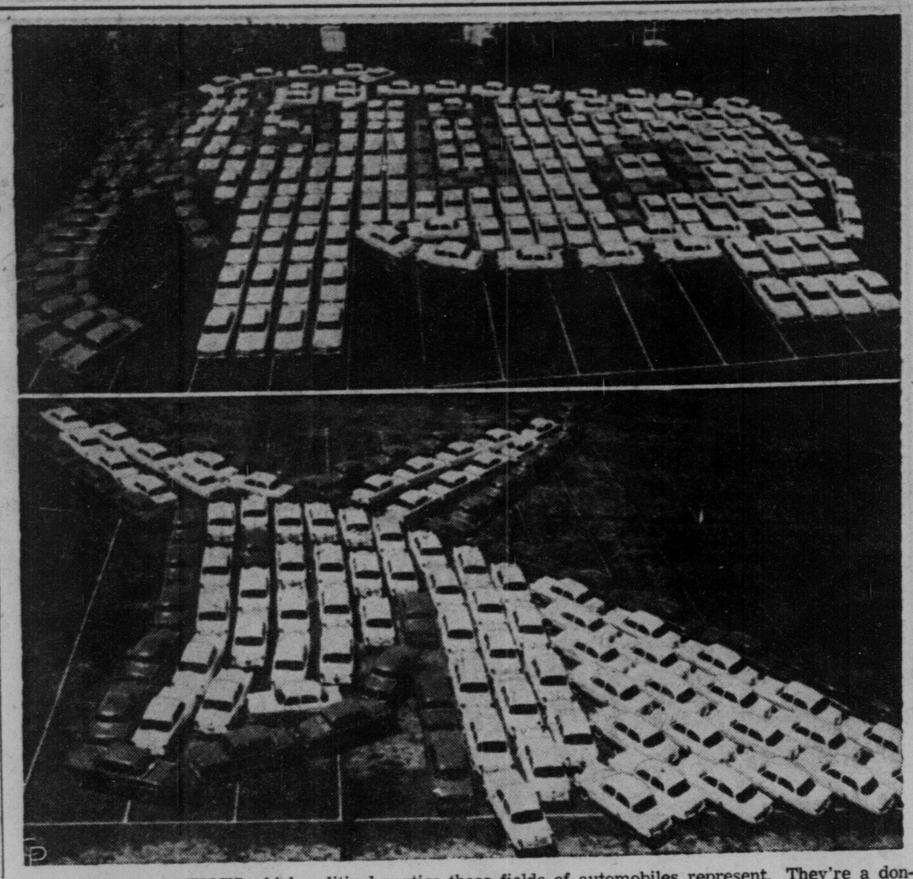

Chicago reported one inch of rain in three hours. Scores of trees were uprooted and power lines knocked down. Ten south side houses were struck by lightning but no fires were started and no one was injured.

HELD FOR CALVE THEFT

BELLEFONTAINE, O. (AP)—Charles Maybry, 19, of Rushvylvania, and William Snyder, 23, of Springfield, were held to the grand jury Wednesday on charges of stealing two calves in Logan County and selling them in Kentucky. Kentucky state police said the men are wanted there on charges of breaking into a general store in Carter City.

Gray squirrels once were so numerous and caused so much damage in Ohio that a law was passed requring every male citizen to deliver 10 squirrel scalps every year, or pay a $3 cash fine. This law was passed in 1808.

IT'S PRETTY OBVIOUS which political parties these fields of automobiles represent. They're a donation from Ford for use of delegates to the Republican and Democratic national conventions in Chicago. There are nearly 200 cars forming the GOP elephant.

Bill Granting Truman War Powers Stalls

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation to continue a limited number of President Truman's wartime powers stalled in the Senate today after quick House approval.

The Senate Judiciary Committee has yet to act on the measure and Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) was expected to ask for a 15-day temporary extension of the President's emergency powers, which expire next Sunday, to give his committee time to act.

As it passed the House 284 to 69 Wednesday, the bill was shorn of peacetime authority to seize the railroads. Altogether, it would extend for one year 48 of 60 specific grants of emergency authority asked by Truman.

The railroad seizure power was the major item eliminated. The House decided such power should be held by the president only in wartime.

Another item dropped would have given the President authority to call to active military duty those inductees drafted between June 24, 1948, and June 15, 1951, who are now in reserve status.

The House granted the President authority to continue reserve officers on active duty beyond the termination of their commissions.

Distinguished Service Crosses Awarded 2 GIs

TOKYO (AP) — Two American infantrymen killed in the Korean fighting last year have been awarded Distinguished Service Crosses.

The Far East Command cited Lt. Worth H. Barber, son of Thomas C. Barber, Winston-Salem, N. C., and Pfc. Marion D. Hoover, son of Mrs. Florence Marker, Eldorado, O., Preble County.

Hoover, a member of Co. M, 17th Infantry Regiment, 7th Infantry Division, was acting as a security guard in a forward area near Chup'a Sept. 3.

Observing a large hostile force moving to attack, Hoover alerted his platoon and returned to fire on the enemy. Although wounded, he remained in his position and, when his comrades were forced to withdraw, voluntarily stayed behind to provide covering fire. Troops recapturing the area several hours later found his body surrounded by those of seven enemy.

Lausche Criticizes Liquor Advertisement

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today criticized a House of Seagram's advertisement in some Ohio newspapers.

The governor said:

"I deplore and decry the type of advertisement sponsored by the House of Seagram in which they impliedly bring a child of tender years into their efforts to sell their whisky products.

"I am calling the attention of the board of liquor control and the liquor department to the advertisement."

Planes, Tanks Join Stiff Korea Fight

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — United Nations fighter-bombers and tanks today blasted Chinese Reds on two Western Front hills with deadly explosives and burning jellied gasoline, in support of attacking Allied ground troops waging one of the war's hottest actions this year.

An Allied officer at the front called the fight "probably the biggest thing that's happened here all week."

The stepped-up fighting broke out Saturday around Chorwon, 48 miles north of Seoul, when U.N. infantrymen captured two high points. The Reds have tried unsuccessfully every day since to knock the Allies back.

The officer said fighter bombers strafed, bombed and fire-bombed Chinese positions on the hills throughout the morning and carried their attack into the afternoon.

Mountain States Await 1952 Gold Rush-Summer Tourists

DENVER (AP)—A flood of tourist gold—close to three quarters of a billion dollars—is expected to pour into the Rocky Mountain States before the summer's end.

It will be spent by an estimated 20 million persons from other states. That's close to five times the population of the seven states with their lofty peaks, summer glaciers and high altitude coolness.

Despite the bites chewed from income by taxes and high living costs, nearly all of the seven states covered in an Associated Press survey expect more pleasure-seeking visitors than ever.

An American Automobile Association director last week predicted nearly22 per cent of all American vacationists will visit Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico this summer alone.

Wyoming, with only 290,000 residents, this year put on its biggest promotional campaign. Howard Sharp, secretary of the state's Commerce and Industry Commission, believes it will reap three million tourists and more than the $102,461,000 spent there last year. Yellowstone National Park and the Grand Tetons Country, in northwestern Wyoming, are prime attractions.

In New Mexico, home of Indian ceremonials and 68,8000 residents, State Tourist Director Melvin Drake believes 6,50,000 visitors will spend 180 million dollars before they head for home.

Colorado officials, who count the tourist trade as a top industry, look for 3,300,000 visitors who'll spend $247,500,000.

Montana is hopeful of attaining last year's tourist figures—2,500,000 visitors who spent close to 75 million dollars. More than 500,000 —nearly equal the state's population—visited Glacier National Park near the Canadian border in 1951.

Utah is counting on 3,250,000 tourists and a gross income of 80 million dollars, both ahead of last year.

Summer travel in Arizona should bring 1,500,000 visitors who'll spend 30 million dollars, the state university's Business Research Bureau estimates.

Feathery Thief Caught Stealing In Mail Box

DOVER, O., (AP) — They finally spotted the thief who has been stealing coins from Mrs. D. L. Staneart's mail box.

But forgiving postal authorities have decided against prosecution.

The dastardly deeds have been perpetrated by a wren that entered a small opening in the box at nearby Tippecanoe. The coins had been left to pay for postage.

Mrs. Staneart hasn't found out yet what the bird does with the money.

PROBES JAIL DEATHS

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP)—Coroner David Belinky is investigating the deaths of two city prisoners in three days. Joseph Mangan, 60, died of a skull fracture Tuesday night. Police said he fell while being booked on an intoxication charge at city jail Saturday. Leonard Rogers, 51, died Sunday night two hours after he collapsed in his jail cell.

Scalding of poultry as an aid to removing the feathers is not required in a new method that utilizes a device by which feathers are stood upright, exposing the skin. Then cold tap water is applied direct to the fowl.

are involved. Some, in fact, would view such activity with genuine approval.

Alerted As Recruits

It hardly needs to be said that lawyers owe a very special obligation to give their time and talents to political action at all levels. Lawyers' training in the principles of politics and jurisprudence, their understanding of law, their training in dialectic and public speaking are their major contributions. The jury lawyer, moreover, knows how to pitch his appeal to all sorts and conditions to people—to explain, move, and persuade.

The doctors and dentists of the country, hitherto non-political, have been hurled intp public controversy by the threat of government medicine. They are alerted recruits.

The organized efforts of their professional associations have already trained them in the arts of political action. In recent elections their influence in many places has been effective, and in some places decisive. They must learn, however, that freedom is indivisible. Private medicine cannot be saved alone. The doctor must generalize his struggle. His usefulness in citizen action is very great, for his concerns reach every type of citizen. He must learn to prescribe sound political ideas as well as medicine.

Women Useful In Political Work

In political activities the usefulness of women is distinctive, on two grounds: greater opportunity for leisure has enabled many of them to read more about public issues than their husbands and brothers; and the average married woman of thirty-five and over in the middle or higher income groups has more time to spare for political work. And, what is also important, they are often able to contribute not only time but money.

In political activites, women are likely to put more emotional drive into their efforts than are men. The testimony of political managers indicates that women in the field and in the office work harder and produce more results than do men in the same jobs. Moreover, women are more likely to do with speed and enthusiasm the prosaic jobs, such as addressing and stuffing envelopes and making house-to-house calls. Such jobs are the very life blood of successful campaigning. If women feel that the cause is good, they will conquer boredom and fatigue to get the mechanical work done.

Many more groups of leaders will suggest themselves. There are the executives of clubs and associations of all sorts, whose activitites bring them into close contact with public life. There are also many officials of labor unions who have no obligation or duty to conform to the political objectives of the top leaders or ppolitical arms of the great federations. These local union leaders are a part of the communities in which they live.

A great source of political leadership can be found among retired farmers and retired business and professional men and women in every community. Since statism is a threat to savings and personally attained security, and since conservatism is an attribute of age, these older citizens are obvious recruits.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Avoid Diseases Carried To Humans By Pets

A letter from Mrs. R. H. raises a point. She says that her eight-year-old daughter has been found to have intestinal worms and wonders whether the young tomcat they have could be responsible.

Dr. Jordan

"I do not believe my daughter got her worms from the cat," Mrs. H. says, "but when she is at home she is forever carrying him around and kissing him. Can he re-infect her, or am I worrying needlessly?"

This raises the interesting question as to what diseases, if any, can be spread by household pets. So far as cats are concerned, it is known that various kinds of ringworm can be contracted from these animals, and it is also known that one investigator found 37 kinds of worms in cats, a number of which are able to infect human beings.

This shows that it is possible for a youngster to become infested with worms and certainly the practice of kissing or nuzzling these animals increases the danger.

Another disease which cats can occasionally transmit to human beings is known as cat-scratch disease, or cat-scratch fever.

Rabies, or hydrophobia, has been found occasionally in cats, and a cat stricken with this disease is a serious menace to human beings. Tuberculosis is not common among cats, and there appear to have been few cases of human tuberculosis contracted in this manner.

In mentioning these diseases which can be transmitted by cats, I do not mean to imply that these animals are a danger around the house, since hundreds of thousands of people have cats as pets and never acquire any disease from them.

The same kind of problem exists with regard to dogs. Dogs harbor a great many animal parasites, although only a few of them can cause human infection. Occasionally a dog tapeworm can be acquired from dogs by swallowing an infected flea.

A skin condition called creeping eruption caused by a small worm closely related to hookworm, infects many dogs. It passes directly through the skin and therefore dogs should be kept off bathing beaches where people go barefooted.

Animals should not be allowed to bite or scrach. People should not let them lick the face, particularly the mouth, and should wash the hands after handling them and before eating.

Kissing animals is unwise. These precautions should be followed and pets showing signs of illness should be taken promptly to the veterinarian.

Preacher Who Died During Fast, Buried

DAVISVILLE, Mo., (AP)—A small, flower-covered mound today marks the grave of the Ozark preacher whose fast "to find the more perfect will of God for my own life" ended in death.

An overflow crowd of about 600 persons attended the funeral service yesterday for the Rev. J. J. Ivie, who was buried next to the small Assembly of God Church here where he once served as pastor.

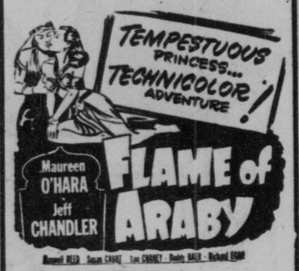

Ivie, 57, died last Monday in his home at nearby Cherryville in the 51st day of his fast.

His wife, also an ordained minister, was near collapse during the service. She was led to the family car by two of her six children.

Nam Il Won't Yield On POW Issue

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The chief Communist Korean truce negotiator softened his denunciation of the Allies today, but remained unyielding on the prisoner exchange issue —last obstacle to an armistice.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, head U.N. negotiator, told newsmen he attached no significance to North Korean Gen. Nam Il's omission of any mention of the riot-ridden Allied prisoner camps on Koje Island.

Harrison told the Reds during a 38-minute meeting at Panmunjom that "no further concessions will be forthcoming' on the April 28 Allied prisoner proposal. Another Red-demanded session was set for 11 a.m. tomorrow (9 p.m. Thursday EST).

The U.N. is unwilling to force repatriation of some 100,000 internees who have indicated they won't rejoin the Reds voluntarily. The Communists insist on return of all 169,000 Allied-held personnel.

Despite his moderate tone, Nam continued to charge the Allied stand on prisoners violated the Geneva Convention and "widened the breach" of disagreement over prisoner exchange.

Crackdown On Bingo In County Reported Eased

EAST LIVERPOOL, O. (AP) — The crackdown on bingo appeared to be easing today in Columbiana County.

The corn-on-the-card game came out into the open Wednesday at a carnival sponsored by East Liverpool police. A veterans group immediately resumed operation of what it called bingo-for-charity and a civic league was expected to follow suit.

Bingo had been virtually nonexistent here since last May 2 when Judge Joel H. Sharp issued an injunction against it at nearby Lake Placentia Park. He ruled the game was a "lottery prohibited by the state constitution.'

Jake LaMotta Whips Irish Bob Murphy With Final Splurge

Former Middleweight Clever, Physically Fit For Big Fight

DETROIT (AP)—Jake Lamotta, the human sledge hammer who improves with age, will fight anyone "if there's enough cabbage in it." And anyone includes light heavyweight Champion Joe Maxim or challengers Sugar Ray Robinson and Randy Turpin.

Naturally a title fight against the winner of the June 23 Maxim-Robinson championship battle would please him the most.

Jake thinks his unanimous decision over Irish Bob Murphy Wednesday night in one of Detroit's wildest-swinging, most-rousing 10-round fights, proved he could campaign as a light heavyweight. Jake is a former middleweight champion but has forsaken the lighter class.

Joe Maxim

"I think I could beat Maxim easier than I beat Murphy," said the Bronx Bull. "Maxim's my kind of fighter." Jake has now won three straight in his comeback.

A crowd of 16,008 exploded to its toes when Jake, behind on points, battered Murphy with savage rights and lefts to win the ninth and 10th rounds and the decision. Murphy had a 6¼ pound advantage.

Observers agreed they had rarely seen Lamotta box so cleverly and look so fit physically. Lamotta had claimed he was underweight when he was stopped by Robinson and overweight when stopped by Murphy in 1951 defeats that almost pushed him into retirement.

For eight rounds the two sluggers traded block-busters with each other in the nationally - televised and broadcast battle. Murphy held a six-point edge on the combined scorecards when Jake finally solved the ex-sailor's left-handed style and pounded two lefts to his face at two minutes of the ninth round. Jake continued the attack and went on to win.

Hornsby Says He Asked Showdown

Browns Pilot Tells Of Talk With Veeck

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Rogers Hornsby said today he had asked for the showdown conference in Boston which ended with his firing as manager of the St. Louis Browns by Owner Bill Veeck.

Back in St. Louis to take care of personal affairs before leaving for his home in Chicago, the blunt Hornsby said he talked to Veeck by telephone after he had been asked to protest a game Sunday in New York.

"You know when I took this job over we had a definite understanding," the gray - haired rajah said. "There wouldn't be any midgets and there wasn't to be any interference of me as manager of the club.

'And I didn't like it when a messenger came to see me during the New York game Sunday and told me Veeck wanted me to protest the game. It was a question of umpire's judgment. Sure, you can protest that but you never can win one.

"So when I talked to Veeck on the telephone later I told him maybe we'd better get together and have an understanding about some things. He said he'd be in Boston Tuesday and that's how we happened to have the showdown.'

Additional Sports On Pages 14, 15

Hornsby's reference to midgets was about a stunt Veeck pulled last season here when he sent one in to bat for the Brownies as a pinch-hitter.

Hornsby said he wanted to stay in baseball but it has to be the big leagues.

He expressed surprise some of his players had cheered his going.

"They must have put words in their mouths,' the rajah said, "I didn't have any trouble with the players."

Franklins Provide Tourney Excitement

MILWAUKEE (AP)—For 82 days everything has been running along smoothly in the American Bowling Congress tournament for Bill Franklin, assistant to Eli Whitney, ABC public relations director.

Bowlers throughout the nation know Bill and have been kidding him at the tournament.

Earlier in the tournament, Bill shot on Alleys 29 and 30 and came up with an average 514 series.

Something had to happen. Wednesday the ABC wound up a specially staged mixed doubles tournament and Bill's wife, Marge, happened to draw the same pair of alleys. You're guessing the result and it provided the lone spark of excitement to an otherwise dull day insofar as ABC firing was concerned.

Marge (Mrs. Franklin) started out with 194, centered a 208 and finished with a resounding 256 for 658, the highest series recorded by a woman in the sweeper.

There were no changes in the standings.

True Putt Stroked Squarely With Blade In Straight Line

Eighth Of A Series

By JACK BURKE

Every individual must develop his own putting stroke but all putting strokes have the same basic fundamentals.

No matter how you do it, the firm, true putt must be stroked squarely and the blade must go in a straight line in the desired direction, the face of the putter looking at the cup during the entire stroke.

Even a slight cutting across will put English on the ball, causing it to curl away from the hole, or rim the cup, if it comes that close.

The more accurate putters use the shortest backswing possible to achieve the distance.

Backswings are made close to the ground.

THE FORWARD STROKE is smooth. This kind of stroke reduces the margin for error.

Don't think too much about holing practice putts. Concentrate on the stroke.

Practicing, it is advisable to start with short ones and work back as you smooth out your stroke.

Don't spend too much time lining up putts. A quick survey of the green should tell you just what line the putt should take. Then the problem is to hit the ball right, so concentrate on it.

The importance of putting cannot be overestimated. Anybody can hit the ball. It takes a real golfer to put all his shots together, blending the happy formula that produces a good game.

A three-foot putt is every bit as important as a 250-yard drive. Each counts one stroke.

All the champions I've seen have been good putters. My dad told me Harry Vardon wasn't always so good on the green, but that when he was winning he wasn't exactly a bad putter. He couldn't have been a poor putter and won and been the British master.

ANALYZE YOUR NEXT good round and you may be amazed at how few putts you took.

You may find that you saved all your strokes on the greens.

A prime example of that was the record-breaking 30 Jimmy Demaret shot on the bock nine of the Masters Tournament of 1940.

GOOD LOOK—The face of the putter looks at the cup during the entire stroke.

Jimmy had six birdies and three pars.

He required just 12 putts. That means he was six under par, and those six strokes were saved on the greens. His golf from tee to green was not of the Fourth of July variety.

Jimmy Demaret's putting was spectacular, however, and therein lies the story of a record-breaking round.

'Keep Swinging' Good Advice Claims Chicago's Hank Sauer

CHICAGO (AP)—Raw-boned Hank Sauer, whose hefty 40-ounce bat is carving into baseball's hitting records, calls himself "just a team man who only hits to win."

"What good is a bunch of home runs if you don't win?" Sauer remarked Wednesday after belting three in the Chicago Cubs 3-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phils.

Sauer said he has been asked a dozen times to account for his sensational start in which he now leads both major leagues in runs-batted-in with 58, homers with 18, hits with 70 and batting average with .352.

"It's the same old story," he said. "When you get the wood to the ball it goes, that's all. The best advice ever given me was to just keep swinging.

"Back in Cincinnati in 1949 they tried to teach me to push drivers to right field and I got all fouled up. This season Cavarretta, manager of the Cubs, told me: 'Hank, you just swing your own way and maybe you can figure a way to hit to right by yourself.'

Sauer's three homers—all leadoff blows—Wednesday came off Curt Simmons. Ironically, he slammed three off Lefty Simmons in one game previously, on Aug. 28, 1950. The clusters off the same pitcher established a major league record.

Sauer also is setting a fast pace in the All-Star baseball poll as the fans' most popular player.

Sauer heads the nation-wide balloting in latest tabulations with 24,327 votes. Eddie Robinson, Chicago White Sox first baseman, is next with 23,719. Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinal center fielder, is third with 23,404.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting, Hank Sauer, Cubs —Hit three home runs off Curt Simmons for Chicago's 3-2 edge over Phils.

Pitching, Bob Porterfield, Senators — Shut out Cleveland with four hits to ruin Bob Lemon's four-hit effort with 1-0 Washington win.

Cleveland Bows 1-0 To Senators, Drops To Third Place

Bob Lemon Loses Four-Hit Contest

Porterfield Allows Indians Four Bingles

WASHINGTON (AP) — For Bob Lemon it was too good to last—hitting support with his fine mound work for Cleveland's Indians.

His teammates supplied some overdue runs for Bob last Thursday as they whipped Philadelphia, 11-4. But Wednesday night, with four-hit pitching from Lemon, they just once reached third base and Washington's Senators edged them 1-0.

It was the fifth such heartbreaker for Lemon, who now has won five and lost six. The others include decisions of 2-0, 3-2, 2-1 and 6-4.

Like Lemon, his opponent, Bob Porterfield, 5-5, gave up only four hits.

Washington's run came in the seventh. Pete Runnels hit a puny grounder that barely got past second base. Lemon grabbed for it and missed and Bob Avila only delayed its progress by touching it. The ball rolled about 30 feet beyond second. Larry Doby made a fast throw, but Runnels reached second safely. Ken Wood singled him home.

The Tribe made its only real threat in the seventh. Al Rosen was hit by a pitched ball and Dale Mitchell moved him to third with a double. Luke Easter left them both stranded by fouling out.

The loss dropped Cleveland from second to third place.

Bob Feller, 5-4, goes to the mound for the Tribe today against Washington's Frank Shea, 3-1.

MARKSMAN DIES

TORONTO (AP)—George M. Emslie, 69, one of Canada's crack marksmen, died Wednesday.

Ben Hogan Bids For Fourth U. S. Open Championship

DALLAS, Tex. (NEA)—For the third consecutive summer, the the fourth in five, it is Ben Hogan against the other 161 in the United States Open Championship field.

After his near-fatal accident in February, 1949, Hogan came down in front in a three-way play-off at Merion in '50, and closed with a spectacular 67 to take it all at gigantic Oakland Hills last trip. In '48 at Riviera, the greatest little Irishman ever to come out of Dublin, Tex., broke Ralph Guldahl's all-time record by five strokes with a screeching 276.

Hogan contends that he really is competing for his fifth Open, inasmuch as he was given the same medal for winning the Hale American Tournament, which passed for one in Chicago in '42.

Anyway, this makes you more fully realize to what extent the incredible Bantam Ben has dominated the most exacting of games in more recent years.

A repeat for him over a 6764-yard, rolling Northwood Club course, 12 miles north of Dallas, June 12-14, would be comparable to Robert Tyre Jones' amazing Grand Slam of '30.

YOU HAVE to doubt that Hogan's 276 at Los Angeles' Riviera will ever be bettered, but if it is, this is the spot.

There is some question about Norwood, only four years old, being a real Open Championship test.

Par is 35-35—70, and you may look for some very low single rounds.

The consensus is that 282 will prevail.

With 29 exempt, 133 places were available in sectional qualifying rounds, in which 1668 competed, so there was an average of one start for about 12½ shotmakers.

Thirty share in the $15,000 prize money, the top prize being $4,000, but the swag doesn't count in the big one. It's what the winner gets out of the tremendous show. This depends on the personality, of course, but it is conservatively estimated that the Open in worth $100,000 to the victor.

WHO IS THERE to beat Hogan?

Anything can happen in an Open Championship, although this hasn't been true with the Miracle Mick taking full charge in the last three in which he has figured.

Some suspect that in the Masters, Samuel Jackson Snead had shaken the distinct psychological advantage Hogan held over him, but the Hot Springs, Va., hillbilly pulled out of the Western Open with a swollen finger. Meanwhile, Hogan put on his typical blazing finish to account for the Colonial Invitation.

You can throw out Lloyd Mangrum, Bobby Locke, Jackie Burke, Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Doug Ford, Tommy Bolt, Jim Ferrier, Al Besselink, Clayton Heafner, Jimmy Demaret and a few more. A virtual unknown could get hot.

But Fort Worth's Ben Hogan insists that at 39 he is not yet at his peak, and will take a whale of a lot of beating, especially when he is practically on his home grounds.

A PLAN OF NORTHWOOD CLUB COURSE (above) is the route which Ben Hogan (right) and other United States Open golfers will travel today as they start play over the huge course. Hogan will be trying for his fourth Open title in the past five years.

U. S. Open Golf Tourney Slated Today

DALLAS (AP)—Two intruders, heat and Ben Hogan, threatened to complicate matters today as the familiar figures of golf's tournament trail began their annual quest for the biggest prize of all, the United States Open championship.

Hogan, of course, was regarded as the most serious threat as the vanguard of the field of 162 players began to stream down the bottlenecked fairways of the Northwood Course.

The sticky heat, which hasn't kept a few players from scorching the course in practice, may have a more serious effect if it continues through Saturday. The contenders will have to play 36 holes on that last day and the strength-sapping Texas sun may take a more severe toll than those old enemies of tournament golfers, par and pressure.

The top favorites, Hogan, Sammy Snead and Lloyd Mangrum are getting old as athletes go—from 37 to 40 years—and most of their strongest rivals aren't exactly young. You don't find fuzzy-cheeked kids winning major tournaments these days and the Open title hasn't gone to a rank outsider since Sam Parks won at Oakmont in 1935.

Jim Tatum Added To Coaching Staff

CHICAGO (AP)—Jim Tatum, coach of Maryland's undefeated Sugar Bowl champions, has been added to the collegiate coaching staff for the All-Star football game in Soldier Field Aug. 15.

He joins Red Sanders of U. C. L. A. and Stu Holcomb of Purdue on the staff headed by Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech. One more coach is to be named to complete the staff.

MEETS TONIGHT

Sy Butler, national president of the Hot Stove League, will be present at a meeting of baseball players from 12 to 15 and all interested in helping the league. The meeting is slated for 8 p.m. tonight in the Legion home.

Kentucky annually produces an estimated one-third of the entire thoroughbred racing crop in the country.

Dinner Date Wins Old Country Trot

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP)—Dinner Date, a brown filly owned by A. L. Derby of Wichita, Kas., took over the lead in the stretch Wednesday night for a three length victory in the first division of the $7,125 Old Country Trot at Roosevelt Raceway.

Nine three-year-old fillies, four of them eligible for the $90,000 Hambletonian at Goshen, N. Y., in August, competed, and the even money favorite, Kimberly Mine, broke stride after trailing for more than a half mile in the one-mile event.

Dinner Date is eligible for the Hambletonian, along with Kimber Mine, owned by Mrs. William R. Hilliard, Donerail, Ky.

Joy Hanover, State Fair stables, Trenton, N. J., was second, with Maryland Hilly, owned by C. J. and G. I. Batter, Washington, D. C., third, in the race, timed at 2:10 4-5.

The winner paid $12.10, 5.80 and 4.00.

Hank Sauer's Three Homers Account For Cub 3-2 Victory

Curt Simmons Circuit Victim

Yanks, Boston First, Second In AL Race

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

No one will dare ask Hank Sauer to sit out the 1952 all-star game. The big fellow from Chicago stands in Ted Williams' shoes as the leading slugger in all baseball.

From the trend of the early '52 balloting, Sauer may wind up with the most votes of any player in either league. At least he will if he has many more days like yesterday.

Sauer hammered three of "cousin" Curt Simmons' pitches into the left field bleacher area for a 3-2 Cub win over the Phillies. Back in 1950 he also hit three homers off Simmons in an Aug. 28 game at Wrigley Field. No other major league batter ever hit three homers off the same pitcher in two different games.

Oddly enough, Sauer struck out three straight times in his last previous meeting with Simmons when the Phil southpaw fanned 12 and beat the Cubs on a two-hitter, May 13 at Philadelphia.

Sauer's homers were lead-off blows in the second, sixth and eighth innings. In the third inning, he popped out.

Sauer's slugging was the big news of the day, although there was much fussing and fuming last night at St.Louis where both Manager Chuck Dressen and Pee Wee Reese of Brooklyn were tossed out of the game with the St.Louis Cardinals. Del Rice's single in the 10th gave the Cards a 3-2 win, slicing the Dodgers' National League lead to four games.

Jim Hearn pitched the New York Giants past Cincinnati, 3-2, with a four hitter and little Murry Dickson of Pittsburgh blanked Boston, 5-0.

The New York Yankees strengthened their American League lead with a 7-2 win over Detroit on Johnny Sain's pitching and home runs by Joe Collins and Yogi Berra.

Washington's Bob Porterfield shutout Cleveland's Bob Lemon, 1-0, to let the Boston Red Sox take over second place with a come-from-behind win over St.Louis, 11-9. The Red Sox blasted Satchel Paige for six in the ninth, including a game winning grand slam homer by Catcher Sammy White.

The Philadelphia A's knocked off Chicago, 5-3, on a four-run rally in the sixth that included a two-run homer by Al Clark, filling in for injured Gus Zernial.

The Red Sox explosion was the most dramatic event in the American as it came against Paige who has been showing fine relief form. He hadn't allowed a run for 27 innings.

Coasting into the ninth with a comfortable 9-5 lead for Marty Marion's new charges, Old Satch loaded the bases on two infield singles and a walk. Vern Stephens popped out but Paige walked Billy Goodman to force in a run. Ted Lepcio's single scored another run and White cleaned the bases —the first homer off Paige this season.

Dizzy Trout, acquired from Detroit last week in the big seven-man deal, won his third in a row for Boston by pitching a scoreless ninth as the fourth Red Sox pitcher.

Collins hit two homers and Berra one off 21-year-old Billy Hoeft for the Yanks' ninth victory in their last 10 starts as they surged from fifth to first place in less than two weeks. Sain gave up 10 hits but nine were singles.

The Cards' extra-inning win was their second in a row over the Dodgers who zoomed into St.Louis with a hot winning streak.

Peanuts Lowrey opened the 10th with a double off loser Billy Loes. After Dick Sisler was passed intentionally, Tommy Glaviano forced Lowrey at third on an attempted sacrifice. Rice then arched Loes' first pitch into short left to score Sisler.

Willard Schmidt, the No. 3 man of a rookie trio that allowed the Dodgers only four hits, was the winner on a two-inning relief job.

The Giants picked up a full game on Hearn's fine effort at Cincinnati. During one stretch, the right-hander retired 15 consecutive Reds.

Successive doubles by Bob Elliott and Don Mueller scored the decisive run in the fifth after Bobby Lockman's eighth homer, with Whitey Lockman on base, tied the score.

Skippin' Around

By SKIP GREENISEN

Laddie Placek, head scout of the Cleveland Indians, is planning to have Bob Theiss and Bob Coy, two Salem baseballers, practice with the Indians while they are on the home grounds.

The two boys are slated to workout with the Tribe, Theiss pitching batting practice and Coy playing second base and the outfield. The workouts will begin when the Indians return home Friday for a 13-game home stand.

Both are presently working in East Cleveland in a city park and will remain in Cleveland during the summer months. They are playing with Rosenblums, a city baseball team, and both are seeing considerable action.

The former Salem High School althletes recently got out of Western Reserve University and just joined the team. They are attending WRU with the help of the Indians and played baseball and basketball with the university teams.

A "TEE-OFF" PARTY will be held at the Salem Golf Club Saturday with surprises and prizes galore prepared for the entertainment of members and their guests. Many golf specials with equal chances for duffers and star golfers are slated for the day. Both men and women may compete.

A buffet supper will be held at 7 p.m. with a carnival afterwards.

Major League baseball managefs seem to be having a rough time keeping their jobs. Tommy Holmes was recently ousted as manager of the Boston Braves and replaced by Charlie Grimm, minor loop pilot. Tuesday Bill Veeck calmly fired Rogers Hornsby and inserted Marty Marion to manage the seventh place St. Louis Browns.

Hornsby claims he asked for a showdown with Veeck when the latter told him to protest a game with the Yankees. The meeting of the rajah and the tie-less Brown's owner brought about the firing of Hornsby.

MANY SALEM FANS are planning to take in the Sunday doubleheader between Cleveland and Boston through the annual American Legion baseball excursion June 22. Many good seats are still available, report the excursion chairmen. Salem fans as well as district fans are urged to make the trip by railroad to see the twin bill.

—:—

Pack Three of the Presbyterian Church participated in a well executed track meet last Sunday afternoon. Comprised of five dens, the pack staged an eight-event program which was captured by the fifth den.

Salem High School Track Coach Frank Tarr was at the meet and was very pleased with the activity of the pack. Tarr watched many boys which look to be future high school stars.

FACULTY MANAGER Fred Cope is busily working on the 1952-53 basketball schedule. He reports that he will have several new opponents on the Salem slate next season.

Cope contacted Coshocton and Cleveland West recently but as yet has received no reply from either school. He is awaiting answers from other schools also.

Clendening Lake seems to be pretty lucky for Salem fishermen. Recently Charlie Cozad caught a small bass and returned a few days later to pull in a 19-inch bass.

D. T. Megrail and R. V. Paxson also netted good sized bass during their fishing at the lake.

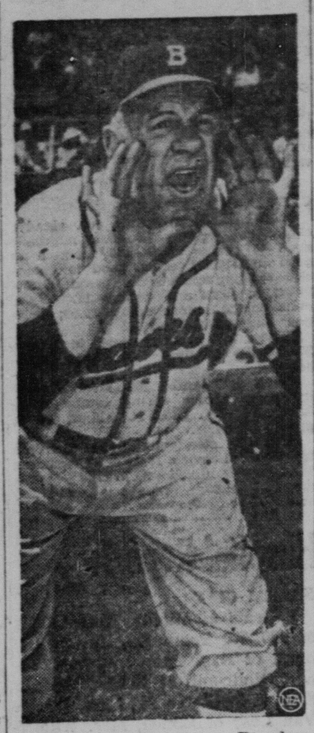

New Zealand has waived, for 1952, a law barring horse imports to permit breeders to buy 12 American trotting stallions.

"I HOPE to have five children," said Jeanne Shores, shown with cup on winning title "Miss California" in Santa Cruz, "but marriage plans must wait until after the 'Miss America' finals in Atlantic City in September." The 19-year-old Alhambra brunette has blue eyes, stands 5-feet-6, weighs 128, has 36-inch bust, 36-inch hips, 24½-inch waist.

Benefit Softball Contest Wednesday

The Hine Motor softball team will play a benefit game next Wednesday night in honor of Twila Myers, who presently is undergoing an operation in Cleveland's Lakeside Hospital.

The local softballers will encounter Pittsburgh Kenn Buick at 8:30 at Kelley Park with a preliminary game between the Salem All-Stars and the Boardman Boosters slated for 7:15. The local all-star team will be selected by League Manager Ward Zeller and managers of the Girls League.

FOTO START—T. L. Higgins seemed reflected in a pool, getting off from the starting blocks for the British Games' 440 on water-logged White City Stadium track in London. The Surrey athlete won.

Dizzy Trout in 14 seasons with the Tigers has pitched two opening day games, in 1944 and 1952. He lost both.

Lou Rymkus Quits As Indiana Coach

CLEVELAND (AP)—Lou Rymkus, the former Cleveland Browns tackle, said today he had resigned as an assistant football coach at Indiana University for a job as a car salesman.

He quit, he explained, because he could not find a suitable house in Bloomington, Ind., and would have had trouble selling his present home in suburban Parma Heights.

Rymkus also pointed out he had been with the automobile agency here for four years and believed it offered him a better business proposition than being an assistant coach.

8 Coeds Tee Off In Women's Golf Tourney

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Eight co-eds tee off today in the quarter-final matches of the eighth Women's Intercollegiate golf tournaye.

The contest opened Tuesday with a field of 3 hopefuls. The five-day meet ends Saturday.

Today's pairings include:

Judy Blicke of Ohio State vs Beverly Gammon, University of Minnesota.

Polly Martin vs Anne Keltner, both of Ohio State.

The last home run Ted Williams hit for the Red Sox before departing for the Marines was his 324th major league four bagger.

Interest In Rails Helps Stock Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — A moderate amount of buying interest in railroads today encouraged the stock market to advance a bit.

There was no concentration of demand at any time, but there was a modest response shown by steels, radio-television, and some merchandising issues, chemicals, and utilities.

Prices were up by fractions to between one and two points with the bulk of the advance in the lower reaches of that range. Losses were almost entirely fractional.

Stocks getting ahead included Northern Pacific, New York Central, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Dow Chemical, Zenith Radio, and Gulf Oil.

Steel Strike

basis for wage, price and rent controls, expires at midnight June 30.

When steel industry negotiations collapsed last Monday night, both industry and union agreed to reopen enough plants to produce the steel needed for the Korean fighting. Truman told Congress this might help some, but wouldn't satisfy all defense needs.

17-Man Group Meets

A 17-man group, including eight government officials, was meeting with John R. Steelman, Truman's assistant, to work out details of the steel-for-Korea plan.

Secretary of Defense Lovett and Defense Production Administrator Henry Fowler led the government group. Industry was represented by vice presidents of five major steel companies, and the CIO Steelworkers Union by three union leaders.

Before the Senate at a morning session was an amendment to the controls bill by Sen. Case (R-SD). It would provide what Case terms "modified compulsory arbitration" under which management particularly would want to settle a labor dispute to avert government seizure.

A counter-proposal, by Sen. Maybank (D-SC), hung fire. These two amendments—the only known major issues before the whole bill comes to a vote—would provide, as their authors explain them:

The Case amendment—full use of the Taft-Hartley Act's 80-day injunction, then an immediate strike ban for up to 150 days. An emergency production board within the first 30 days could order changes in the workers' wages, hours and working conditions, with both parties required to comply with the findings for 120 days. The President could seize the plants for any part of the 120-day period in which the management declined to comply. It contains no provision for seizure or other action after the time limit lapses.

The Maybank amendment—permit immediate seizure of steel or any other strike-threatened defense industry on recommendation of the National Emergency council, which Truman heads, the government to hold the plants until a settlement is reached. It would permit wage raises to the employes, and allow a special emergency board to determine just compensation to the seized plants' owners for the use of their factories.

On another front the Senate moved to retreat from its prior action in spiking into the bill a provision backed by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich). This would permit private business to compete against the government in world markets for scarce, rationed raw materials. Under it they could pay above-ceiling prices without penalty.

To make the retreat, the Senate adopted a provision sponsored by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) having almost exactly contrary terms, a move which will force a later final choice between the two proposed amendments.

Appetizers For Afternoon Parties

Everyone likes parties so we'll tell you about a super de luxe afternoon gathering we went to recently. Maison Glace in New York, one of the country's most famous shops for delicacies, asked the press to help them celebrate their 50th anniversary.

To begin with, fresh caviar in large bowls set in ice greeted us. More caviar than most of us ever saw in our lives!

There were large earthenware jars of pate de foie gras with truffles from Strasbourg and slices of the most tender sturgeon anyone could hope for.

Macadamia nuts from Hawaii—ever crunch them? Enormous tree-ripened olives, Nova Scotia salmon, tiny Italian artichokes in spiced oil, Jordan almonds from Spain, hickory-smoked shrimp, Westphalian ham, imported cheese all stood ready to welcome the invited guests and for those who wanted it. There were Jeroboams (double-size bottles) of Moet and Chandon champagne.

Alex Manson, the proprietor, and other members of the firm and several gracious ladies went around urging us all to have more caviar, more pate, more, more. Yes, it was a party where nothing but the best and lots of it was the rule.

Of course, few of the press can afford such delicacies as the Maison Glace offered. But we all do like parties, nevertheless.

Here are some appetizers we have at home for afternoon gatherings:

Soften cream cheese with fork. Add red caviar (it's very inexpensive) and mix in gently. Spread on crisp crackers. Garnish with red caviar.

Eggs stuffed with shrimp: Prepare hard-cooked eggs as you would for deviled eggs, but add chopped cooked shrimp to the mashed-yolk filling.

Celery stuffed with shrimp-cheese: Cut ½ cup cooked shrimp into small pieces. Mix with 1 package of cream cheese. Clean celery stalks, crisp them in ice water, and fill the hollows with shrimp-cheese mixture.

Shrimp in pastry: Prepare 2½-inch squares of thin pie dough. Roll them around whole-cooked shrimp. Bake in a moderately hot oven about five minutes.

Shrimp-butter appetizers: Chop ¼ pound cooked shrimp (if space) into small pieces. Mix the shrimp with ¼ pound softened butter, and blend well.

Add salt and pepper to taste. Spread mixture on hot toast rounds and triangles just before serving. If you like, garnish each canape with a tiny piece of green pepper or pimento.

TO COOK A BEEF TONGUE

When you are cooking a beef tongue cool it in the liquid in which it was simmered. Most smoked tongues need overnight soaking in cold water to remove excess salt. Drain off the soaking water and cover with fresh water for cooking. Serve hot or cold tongue slices with mustard or horseradish sauce.

Recipes For Eggs And Grapefruit

Both eggs and grapefruit juice are on the June plentiful list. So let's do something about it.

Grapefruit Snow Pudding

1 tablespoon gelatin
¼ cup cold water
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 egg whites

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add hot water and stir until dissolved. Add sugar, salt and fruit juices (cup grapefruit sections in small pieces). Mix thoroughly.

Cool, and when jelly begins to thicken, beat until frothy and then fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into mold that has been rinsed in cold water, and chill. When firm, unmold and garnish with grapefruit and orange sections. Serve with custard sauce.

Custard Sauce

2 egg yolks
3 tablespoons sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix slightly beaten egg yolks, sugar, and salt in top of double boiler. Stir in milk gradually. Add vanilla. Cook mixture over hot water, stirring constantly until it thickens and coats speen.

Planning a picnic? How about taking a big pot of clam chowder to heat over a picnic ground fire.

Picnic Clam Chowder

3 slices bacon, diced
1 teaspoon dried thyme
1 cup sliced onions
3 cups cubed, pared potatoes
½ cup diced celery
5 cups hot water
½ teaspoon celery salt
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 No. 2½ can tomatoes (3½ cups)
1 cup diced carrots
3 cups clam liquid
3 dozen shucked clams
2 tablespoons minced chives

In deep kettle, saute bacon until crisp. Stir in thyme and onions; cook, stirring occasionally until tender.

Add potatoes, celery, hot water, celery salt, salt and pepper. Cover and let simmer 5 minutes. Add tomatoes, carrots, clam liquid (if you don't have 3 cups add water to make up the difference).

Simmer uncovered, one hour. Meanwhile pick over clams to remove any shells; cut into small pieces. Add clams and chives to soup mixture. Bring to a boil; simmer about 5 minutes. Six servings.

Fruit Juice Imparts Flavor To Nut Bread

Dried fruit, apricots in this case, give this nut bread a flavor everyone will like. The delicate fruit flavor is extended by making use of the part of the apricot liquid in the bread. Slice the bread thin for company sandwiches and spread with cream cheese, or use it as a breakfast bread.

If you're in a show-off spirit, use extra apricot halves and nuts for dressing up the top of the loaf. Place these on top of the loaf just before baking. This loaf, as with most quick breads, slices easiest the second day.

APRICOT NUT BREAD

½ cup sugar
2 tablespoon butter of margarine
1 egg, beaten
1 cup sour milk
2 tablespoon apricot juice
1 cup whole bran
½ cup chopped nuts.
1 cup chopped cooked apricots
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking power.
½ teaspoons soda
½ teaspoon salt

Cream together sugar and butter or margarine. Combines egg, milk and apricot juice; add to creamed mixture. Add whole bran, nuts, and apricots.

Beat mixture well. Sift together dry ingredients, add and mix well. Put in greased 9-by 5-by 3-inch loaf pan and bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 1 hour. Yields 1 loaf.

HAM FOR A GROUP

Church or club group to serve? Here's a clever choice. Purchase a canned ham and have your meat dealer slice it, then tie it back in shape. About one hour before serving time, place the ham in a roasting pan and pour a can of pineapple juice over it. When heated through, remove the strings and place the ham on a large tray. Gayly garnish with crab-apples and parsley.

SEASONED UTENSILS

Unless a new cast-iron utensil is marked "seasoned," it should be rubbed with un-salted fat and left in a warm oven for several hours before using. To prevent rusting, dry cast iron utensils thoroughly after each use.

TO COOK TONGUE

When you are cooking a smoked tongue, let the meat cool in the cooking water until it can be handled easily; then remove the outer skin and trim off the roots. Serve the sliced tongue with a hot mustard sauce.

Chicken On List Of June Plentifuls

More food for your dollar, that's what broilers and fryers and eggs give you in June.

They top the Department of Agriculture's list of foods to be particularly plentiful during June. Oranges are way up on the list, too.

Here are the other plentiful foods on the June list: Lettuce, canned and frozen orange juice, grapefruit juice and grapefruit segments, canned peas, early summer vegetables, dry beans (pea beans, baby limas, pintos) all dairy products (milk, cheese, cottage cheese, butter), turkeys, fish, salad oils, table and cooking fats.

Smothered chicken, as recommended by the Delaware Extension Service, is a delicious June item. Served with fluffy mashed potatoes, lots of canned peas and a salad, it's a real meal in the budget group.

Smothered Chicken

A young chicken, 3½ to 4½ pounds
1 to 1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup flour
½ cup fat
2 cups cream or rich milk
¼ pound sliced mushrooms, if desired

Disjoint the chicken. Mix salt, pepper and flour. Rub into chicken. Cook in hot fat until golden brown. Sprinkle any remaining flour mixture over top. Heat cream to boiling and pour over chicken.

Add more cream, if necessary, to half cover the chicken. Cover tightly and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until tender—1½ hours. Serves 5 to 6.

If mushrooms are used, slice them, heat in cream, and add.

Cream Gravy For Fried Chicken

Mix 2 tablespoons of flour with 2 tablespoons of the drippings and all the little brown bits in the frying pan.

Add gradually with constant stirring, 1½ cups of cooked milk, and cook slowly until smooth and thickened. Season to taste and serve hot.

VALUABLE NUTRIENTS

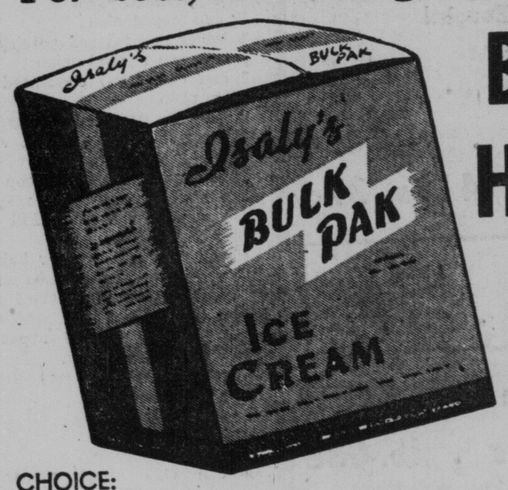

Don't throw away that liquid from canned vegetables; it contains valuable nutrients. Use it in soups, sauces, gravies, or vegetable cocktails.

Lemon Pie, The Way To A Man's Heart

When man meets pie, it's often love at first bite — something to consider now that it's leap year! To aid the cause, here's a tangy lemon pie that will melt even the coldest heart. After all, who could resist its breezy, fresh lemon flavor?

Lemon Chiffon Pie

5 tablespoons sugar
3 egg yolks
Grated rind one lemon
3 tablespoon lemon juice
⅛ teaspoon salt
3 egg whites
3 tablespoons sugar
1 8-inch backed pie shell

Combine first four ingredients in top of double boiler. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thick. Cool.

Add salt to egg whites; beat in 3 tablespoons sugar. Fold in egg yolk mixture; spoon into baked pie shell. Bake in slow oven, 325 F., until top is lightly browned.

Flavorful Dish For Summer Lunch

Here's a perfect one-dish summer luncheon. Packed with flavor and food value, it is easy to make.

Fluffy Tomato Rabbit

1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup
2 cups shredded American cheese
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 eggs, separated
Toast or chackers

Heat soup slowly; add cheese and beat until melted, stirring constantly. Add mustard and Worcestershire sauce to beaten egg yolks; stir into hot mixture. Gently fold in beaten egg whites and heat thoroughly. Serve on hot toast or crackers. Four servings.

Tomato-Deviled Eggs

4 hard-cooked eggs
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup
2 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon lemon juice of vinegar

Split eggs lengthwise; scoop out yolks and combine with mayonnaise, parsley and onion. Fill egg whites with this mixture.

Place eggs in a shallow baking dish and cover with a sauce made by combining soup, mustard and lemon juice. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 15 minutes. Four servings.

Delicious Omelet

4 eggs, separated
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of chicken soup
1 pound asparagus, cooked and drained (fresh or frozen, or 1 No. 2 can)

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored; add ¼ cup of the milk and seasonings. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold into egg yolk mixture.

Pour into a hot greased 9-inch skillet; cook over low heat 3 to 5 minutes, or until omelet is browned on bottom. Place in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 10 to 15 minutes, or until top springs back when pressed with finger.

Measwhile, combine soup and remaining ¼ cup milk; heat over low heat. Remove omelet from pan and place cooked hot asparagus on half of it; fold other half over hot asparagus on half of it; fold ther hlf ver hot asparagus. Pour hot chicken sauce over all. Four servings.

Spanish Omelet: Follow recipe for Delicious Omelet except omit ¼ cup of the milk, the condensed cream of chicken soup and asparagus. Instead, when omelet is removed from pan, serve it with Spanish Sauce.

Spanish Sauce(Two tablespoons finely chopped onion, 1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper, 2 tablespoons shortening or bacon drippings, 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup, ½ cup cooked mushrooms if desired.

Cook onion and green pepper until tender in shortening. Stir in soup and mushrooms; continue cooking over low heat about 5 minutes. This sauce is especially good on omlets, meat or cooked rice.

CANNED VIENNA TIDBIT

Spicy canned Vienna sausages, thoroughly heated, make an easy and tempting addition to an appetizer try. And for an extra-special treat, make miniature buns for holding these tiny sausages.

When you're adding a double boiler to your kitchen equipment make sure that both parts of the boiler have handles that are convenient to lift.

Season Veal Well To Enhance Flavor

Veal steak from the leg or shoulder of chuck, cut about 1-3 inch thick, is delicate meat. For best flavor, the veal should be seasoned, dipped in flour, browned in fat and then cooked slowly in liquid or sauce until tender.

Remember, veal is bland and therefore calls for interesting seasoning. Soaking the meat in French dressing in a few hours is one cooking trick. Be sure there is garlic in the dressing. A clove of garlic in the cooking liquid is recommended, too.

Make veal birds from small rectangular pices of thin veal steak rolled around a well--seasoned bread, rice, fruit or vegetable stuffing. Cook like veal steak. Cubes of veal steak with strips of bacon or cubes of fresh pork, with or without mushrooms, may be pushed onto skewers and floured, browned, and cooked slowly in a thin or thickened sauce to make a quite different veal dish.

Veal Steak in Onion and Olive Sauce

2 round bone veal steaks, about 1½ pounds (1/3-inch thick)
1 cup French dressing
Salt and pepper
Flour
2 tablespoons fat
1 large onion, sliced
½ 10½-ounce can condensed cream of chicken soup
¾ cup milk or water
1 tablespoon vinegar
½ cup sliced ripe olives.

Soak steaks in French dressing at least 3 hours. Drain. Dip in seasoned flour. Melt fat in large heavy skillet. Brown the steaks on both sides in fat. Add onion, soup, and milk.

Cover and cook slowly on surface heat or in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 minutes. Add vinegar and olives. Cover and cook 10 minutes more. Serve with peach halves and tart red jelly.

Lift Green Beans To Deluxe Class

Here's a way to lift green beans into the deluxe class without expense or worry:

De Luxe Green Beans

1 package frozen green beans or one pound garden beans, cooked
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup sour cream.

Cook green beans and onions following directions on the package of beans or use cooked garden beans. Drain, leaving small amount of liquid (about 2 tablespoons) on beans. Mix in sour cream and reheat. 3 to 4 servings.

A spinach souffle makes an ideal one-dish luncheon.

Spinach Souffle

1 cup cooked chopped spinach
3 tablespoons butter or other fat
3 tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
1¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepeer
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
Tabasco sauce
3 eggs

Wash the spinach well and cook it about 5 minutes in the water that clings to the leaves. Drain, and chop fine. Prepare a cream sauce of the fat, flour and milk.

Add the spinach, salt, pepper, onion and a little tabasco sauce and mix well. Separate the eggs, beat yolks until light and lemon colored and whites until very dry. Add yolks to the spinach mixture, then fold in the well-beaten whites.

Put into a greased baking dish. Place in a pan and surround with water. Bake in a very moderate oven 300 degrees F. to 325 degrees F.) for about one hour or until set. Serve at once. Serves 6.

Plan Menus Ahead To Save Money

What's for tomorrow's dinner? Answer that one and you can save money. If you plan dinners days in advance, you can take advantage of market specials, abundant foods and left-overs far better than if you rush into planning a meal at the last moment.

Take a look at these budget menus, planned to get the most food for your money into the family's meals.

1—Broiled chicken, mashed turnips, steamed dandelion greens, tomato wedges with dressing, butterscotch bread pudding, coffee, milk.

2—Broiled ham steaks, rice with raisins, green beans, lettuce wedges with French dressing, chilled peach halves, cookies, coffee, milk.

3—Beef-and-sauerkraut goulaush, boiled potatoes, pickled beets, rye bread, butter of fortified margarine, ice cream with crushed, fresn strawberries, coffee, milk.

Welsh Rabbit

1 tablespoon butter or fortified margarine
1 tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon cayenne
1-16 teaspoon black pepper
1 cup milk or stale beer
1 egg, beaten
3 cups shredded sharp Cheddar-type cheese

Melt butter or fortified margarine in saucepan or top part of double boiler). Remove from heat Add flour and seasonings. Stir until smooth.

Gradually stir in milk. Cook until thickened, stirring frequently. Add cheese. Just before serving, stir in egg.

Serve on crisp crackers or toast triangles garnished with a sprinkle of paprike. If you like foods a little on the "hot" side, garnish top with a very light sprinkle of cayenne. Serves 5 to 6.

IT'S ALL in the way you look at things, and this photo of bearskin-helmeted guards in London proves the point. Viewed from ground level, the line of men rehearsing for the annual Horse Guards parade on June 5th would seem to be a model of precision. But from an elevation, the wobbly row of guardsmen still seems to be trying to prove that "Britannia rules the waves."
